About the University

AJU HISTORY

In 1947, the University of Judaism (UJ) was founded in Los Angeles, based on the vision of Dr. Mordecai Kaplan, author of Judaism as a Civilization, who advocated the creation of an educational institution incorporating diverse elements of Jewish civilization and culture.

Six years earlier, BCI (the Brandeis Camp Institute) was founded by Dr. Shlomo Bardin to respond to assimilation of young American Jews by making "the great ethical heritage of Judaism" relevant to them. This effort was located for brief periods of time in Amherst, NH, Winterdale, PA and Hendersonville, NC before finding its home in 1947 in Simi Valley, California.

The UJ had several homes before moving to the Familian campus in Bel Air in 1977. Thanks to the foresight and leadership of the founding president, Dr. Simon Greenberg, his successor Dr. David Lieber, and first Chairman of the Board, Dore Schary, the UJ became well known early-on for its outstanding teacher training and adult education programs and highly regarded as a Jewish affiliated academic institution that welcomes students of different backgrounds and beliefs.

In 1979, an additional program was created to further the vision of Mordecai Kaplan, a master's degree in Nonprofit Management. Initially the university awarded the MPMA (Master's in Pubic Management and Administration). A few years later the degree awarded became an MBA, and the name of the school itself was changed to the Graduate School of Nonprofit Management.

AJU is comprised of two campuses (in Bel Air and Simi Valley, California) with a combined total of almost 2800 acres.

In 1982 a four-year liberal arts college (initially known as Lee College and later as the College of Arts and Sciences) was opened, followed in 1986 by the establishment of the Fingerhut School of Education (now titled the Graduate Center for Jewish Education) and in 1996 by the creation of the Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies, the first independent ordaining rabbinical school in the West.

Initially, the Brandeis Camp Institute was limited to a summer program for young adults age 18-26. In time, the Institute's signature collegiate summer program was adapted for adults of all ages in the form of weekend retreats known as House of the Book Weekends. The summer camp, Camp Alonim, opened in 1953. The BBI facilities were also used - and continue to be used - year round for other youth and adult activities. Impressed and inspired by Dr. Bardin's vision and educational philosophy, neighbor James Arness (star of "Gunsmoke") gifted his entire adjoining ranch to the Institute, significantly increasing BBI's total acreage and making it what is believed to be the largest parcel of land owned by a Jewish community organization outside the State of Israel.

These two dynamic institutions, which were running on parallel paths, were natural partners. When University of Judaism acquired the Brandeis-Bardin Institute in 2007, the American Jewish University was established, creating a thriving center of Jewish resources and talent built upon the values of Jewish Learning, Culture, Ethics, Leadership and Peoplehood.

AJU has 14 distinct academic and extension programs including a full, four-year undergraduate college.

CORE PILLARS

American Jewish University is a thriving center of Jewish resources and talent built upon the mission of Jewish Learning, Culture, Ethics, Leadership and Peoplehood. As AJU celebrates its 70th anniversary, the vision, enthusiasm, creativity and energy that led to our founding in 1947 has only increased with the years.

LEARNING & SCHOLARSHIP

We believe in the principle of Torah Li'Sh'mah-Learning as an Intellectual and Inspirational Endeavor-that embraces both academic scholarship and the efforts of all Jews to explore their shared heritage through the formal and informal study of Judaism and the other great civilizations of the world.

CULTURE

We acknowledge that Judaism is a flourishing civilization with a culture that is fundamental to modern Jewish identity. We strive to advance that culture by encouraging artistic endeavor in all of its many forms.

ETHICS

We recognize that ethics is the language of Judaism and its most important link to the world at large.

LEADERSHIP

We understand that the future of Jewish life depends on the careful preparation of dedicated and impassioned individuals who will become future community leaders.

PEOPLEHOOD

We are a pluralistic institution that embraces diversity within Judaism and values the contributions of all groups to the growth of Jewish Civilization.

UNITS OF THE UNIVERSITY

COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES

The undergraduate program nurtures innovation, incubates new ideas and integrates socially just values into community life. The undergraduate division draws students of all beliefs and ethnic backgrounds, representing a broad geographic region and reflecting a population diverse in culture, values and perspectives.

One of the most distinctive benefits of attending AJU is the opportunity for students to interact with esteemed scholars. With an average class size of 10 students and a student to faculty ratio of 7:1, AJU offers mentorship opportunities that will help facilitate personal introductions into a student's field of choice.

In October 2018, it was announced that AJU would be sunsetting the current undergraduate program, and using the opportunity to investigate and design new programming. A working group has been established to develop new, exciting academic initiatives based on best practices that will take advantage of the dynamism of our Los Angeles location, and the university's ethical and moral foundations. This planning and design work is expected to continue through 2020.

GRADUATE SCHOOL OF NONPROFIT MANAGEMENT

The Graduate School of Nonprofit Management focuses on developing innovative and diverse leaders who are actively seeking sustainable social change. Offering an MBA in Nonprofit Management, the program delivers an interactive coursework that provides students with opportunities for personal mentorship, exposure to sophisticated management strategies, and a focus on developing the skills to be effective leaders within complex service organizations.

The MBA program welcomes a diverse group of students that are committed to shaping their vision for social change through collaboration with peers, faculty, mentors, and a dynamic community of professionals.

By delivering an immersive, customized and comprehensive 22-month program geared toward the working professional, students become engaged in the key academic areas of visionary leadership, finance, fund development and financial sustainability, social entrepreneurship, strategic planning and evaluation and business planning and implementation.

GRADUATE CENTER FOR JEWISH EDUCATION

The Graduate Center for Jewish Education trains visionary educators who are committed to innovation in the field of Jewish education. The two graduate programs – a Master’s in Education and a Master’s in Teaching - prepare educators to lead and teach creatively and flexibly across the variety of settings in which Jewish learning occurs.

Alumni of the programs learn to apply the knowledge, skills, creativity and leadership needed to bring their vision alive in every sector of Jewish education across the denominational spectrum. 100% of our graduates succeed in gaining employment. Alumni go on to become leaders and educators in day schools, supplementary schools, colleges and universities, camp directors, environmental educators and school-based experiential education directors, educators for Hillels, directors of lifelong learning, adult educators and family educators, staff at museums, foundations and nonprofit organizations, Rabbinic educators, mentors, consultants and master educators.

ZIEGLER SCHOOL OF RABBINIC STUDIES

In 1996, the Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies was founded as the first independent rabbinical school in the West. A full-fledged five-year rabbinical school, Ziegler values rigorous scholarship, embraces the splendors of spirituality, and provides students with vast opportunities to grow intellectually and spiritually while spreading their love of Torah and mitzvot.

Ziegler attracts both a local and an international student body, with students from Australia, Brazil, Canada, France, Israel, Mexico, Uganda and the UK, as well as from every region of the United States. Recently, Ziegler expanded its reach to supervise the ordination of the first Conservative/Masorti rabbi in Germany since the Shoah.

Ziegler students are trained for all areas of the rabbinate and are instilled with a love of tradition, embrace of spirituality, the ability to innovate, and impact the world as pacesetters. Ziegler graduates go on to serve the community in various capacities, such as: pulpit rabbis, hospital chaplains, leaders of synagogues, heads of schools, educators, directors of foundations, philanthropic entities, college programs and Hillels, leaders in non-profit organizations, Jewish advocacy, and Jewish engagement.

CAMP ALONIM

Camp Alonim, founded by Dr. Shlomo Bardin, was designed to impact young people by engaging them in Judaism through their senses - through art, music, Israeli folk dance and drama. Today, the foundations of the camp programs have been expanded to reflect the modern vibrancy of Jewish life, which is experienced every day through music, Israeli dance, sports, arts and crafts, nature, cooking, and social action.

Housed on the Brandeis-Bardin campus in the hills of Simi Valley, Camp Alonim has truly become a place where children thrive and Judaism comes alive. Over 1,200 campers participate each year and every activity is a gateway - a means by which children engage with being Jewish.

Campers ages 8-16 are invited to engage in a variety of camp programs, including Overnight Camp, Gan Alonim Day Camp, Fall/Winter/ Spring Camp and beloved Shabbats are held year-round. Alonim strives to spark a lifelong love for Jewish culture, tradition, and community in its campers by exposing them to a multitude of ways to be Jewish. The natural surroundings of the beautiful campus inspire each camper to connect with the beauty of nature while making lifelong friendships.

MARILYN & SIGI ZIERING BRANDEIS COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE (BCI)

BCI is a 26-day intensive experience in Jewish learning, culture and community every summer for approximately two dozen young adults from around the world, ages 18 to 26. BCI offers young Jewish adults an exploration of self and Judaism within a safe, pluralistic community.

It combines programmatic concepts adapted from the Danish Folk High School (expressing one's identity and culture through the creative arts) and the Israeli Kibbutz (the dignity of physical labor and sharing responsibility for the community) set in the context of the American recreational summer camp. Justice Brandeis referred to it as "a laboratory for living Judaism."

BCIers learn from some of our community's most compelling, talented scholars and artists to experience the multifaceted aspects of Jewish life & culture, and to explore who they are as Jews.

CAMPUSES AND FACILITIES

SUNNY & ISADORE FAMILIAN CAMPUS

American Jewish University's Familian Campus is set atop a rustic mountain range, and spread over 35-acres in one of Los Angeles' most desirable neighborhoods. This unique location offers impressive panoramic views of the San Fernando Valley. The Familian Campus is conveniently located in the heart of the Santa Monica Mountains, at a midpoint between the Los Angeles basin and the San Fernando Valley areas. The campus location, just off the 405 and 101 freeways, provides easy access to campus from all over Los Angeles.

In addition to housing our academic programming and residential complex, the Familian campus is also home to AJU's two renowned libraries – the Bel and Jack Ostrow Academic Library and the Burton Sperber Jewish Community Library. The Lowy-Winkler Family Rare Book Center features hundreds of rare books and manuscripts and is widely regarded as one of this country's largest collections of Bibles (dating back to the 16th Century.) The David Allen Shapiro Memorial Synagogue provides a sacred and artistic prayer space for both the campus and local community.

The Familian Campus is home to the Southern California Jewish Sports Hall of Fame

The Familian campus is well known for the extensive art collection displayed throughout campus, two public art galleries (Platt and Bornstein) which feature rotating exhibits of both Jewish and secular artwork, and one of Los Angeles' preeminent performance venues (Gindi Auditorium). Another highlight of the beautiful grounds surrounding campus is the Smalley Family Sculpture Garden, featuring permanent installations of larger-scale sculptures.

BRANDEIS-BARDIN CAMPUS

The Brandeis-Bardin Campus is as much a feeling as it is a place. Located in Simi Valley, California and committed to the artistic, cultural, intellectual and environmental pursuits of the Jewish people, the campus strives to 'touch and teach' every individual who comes down Peppertree Lane.

The Brandeis Camp Institute was named to honor our nation's first Jewish Supreme Court Justice, Louis D. Brandeis, and in 1947, Brandeis Camp Institute purchased 2,200 acres of land in the foothills of the Santa Susana Mountains outside Santa Susana (now Simi Valley) California. To Dr. Bardin, the rolling hills on the property were reminiscent of the Judean Hills outside of Jerusalem.

In 1961, Brandeis, California became a community in itself with its own post office and zip code (93064).

The name of the Institute was changed to The Brandeis-Bardin Institute in August 1977, to honor the memory of its founder, Dr. Shlomo Bardin. Known today as the Brandeis-Bardin Campus of the American Jewish University, it is believed to be the largest parcel of land owned by a Jewish community institution outside the State of Israel.

The Brandeis-Bardin campus is home to the beloved Camp Alonim, the Ziering Brandeis Collegiate Institute, Sundays in the Park, and a comprehensive conference and events center. The campus offers unique spaces for lifecycle events such as b'nai mitzvot and Jewish weddings, religious and educational retreats and conferences.

Campus constituencies, such as faculty leadership and, where appropriate, the governing board, should review the report before it is submitted to WSCUC, and such reviews should be indicated in this statement.

Institutional Context

Very briefly describe the institution's background; mission; history, including the founding date and year first accredited; geographic locations; and other pertinent information so that the Interim Report Committee panel has the context to understand the issues discussed in the report.

American Jewish University (AJU), with its Familian campus in Bel Air, California and its Brandeis-Bardin campus in Simi Valley, California, was formed as a result of the 2007 union of the Brandeis-Bardin Institute (BBI) and the University of Judaism (UJ).

The UJ was founded in 1947 as the West Coast branch of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America of New York. It was created based on the vision of Dr. Mordecai Kaplan, the author of Judaism as a Civilization, who advocated the creation of an educational institution incorporating diverse elements of Jewish civilization and culture under one roof. Although Dr. Kaplan was not directly involved in the UJ's founding, his ideas were embraced by a group of individuals who received the support of the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York and the Bureau of Jewish Education of Los Angeles.

Six years earlier, the Brandeis Camp Institute (BCI) was founded by Dr. Shlomo Bardin to provide young American Jews with experiences making "the great ethical heritage of Judaism" relevant to them. The Institute was named to honor our nation's first Jewish Supreme Court Justice, Louis D. Brandeis, who was instrumental as the visionary and primary funder of Dr. Bardin's initial programmatic endeavor. This effort was located for brief periods of time in Amherst, NH, Winterdale, PA and Hendersonville, NC before finding its home in 1947 in Simi Valley.

Due to its relationship with the Seminary, the UJ was accredited by the Middle States Association of Schools and Colleges until 1961 after which it was accredited by WASC. In 1972, the UJ was granted separate accreditation by WASC. The UJ and AJU's accreditation was reaffirmed in 1979, 1984, 1988, 1996, 2006, and 2016.

In 2007, we developed the current values statement, which speaks to the entirety of our programs, encompassing four academic schools, including the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS), the Graduate Center for Jewish Education (GCJE), the Graduate School of Nonprofit Management (GSNPM), and the Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies (ZSRS). AJU also includes the Whizin Center for Continuing Education (WCCE), and two academic institutes, 1) the Sigi Ziering Institute on Holocaust Studies (SZIHS), and 2) the AJU Israel Center (AIC). In addition, the University engages in other outreach efforts to the larger Jewish community through programmatic units, including the Sperber Jewish Community Library, the Miller Introduction to Judaism program, Camp Alonim and the Ziering-Brandeis Collegiate Institute (BCI).

While based on Jewish principles and ethics, AJU does not require a statement of faith from its staff, faculty, or students. Faculty members are selected without regard to race, gender or ethnicity. Judaism has multiple movements or denominations, as well as different modes of practice based on historical and cultural roots. AJU embraces the diversity of Jewish belief and practice. Adherence to the rules of a particular movement within Judaism is solely a requirement for students in the ZSRS as this is essential for ordination in the Conservative movement. Likewise, the purpose of the GCJE is to prepare administrators and instructors for Jewish educational institutions and programs, including parochial schools, summer camps, afterschool programming and youth groups. Students are expected to fulfill fieldwork requirements in a Jewish educational setting and course requirements in Judaic content, and candidates must intend to work in the field of Jewish education. Nevertheless, there are no faith-based requirements for admission to the GCJE. The GSNPM draws from the full range of the diverse populations in Southern California.

Similarly, the CAS is open to all. While a unique underlying purpose of the CAS is to prepare future lay leaders, particularly for the Jewish community, we have consistently engaged the broader community with our academic programs. The CAS core curriculum and academic majors are rigorous and demonstrate our commitment to prepare our students for a very diverse and complex world. Diversity for AJU has meant involving and welcoming not only recent émigrés (e.g., persons from the former Soviet Union, Iran, and other parts of the Middle East), and members of the Sephardic community, but also promoting a safe and inclusive space for staff, faculty, and students of other backgrounds, faiths, gender and sexual orientations.

Our academic programs have worked to create an inclusive environment for all, although knowledge of Judaism and/or Jewish culture may be a job requirement for certain administrative positions to fulfill the assigned functions (e.g., within the ZSRS and the GCJE). Further, AJU's commitment to diversity is highlighted in the Faculty Senate's policy on religious freedom and diversity in the Faculty Handbook and through our employee policies as detailed in our Employee Handbook. Our commitment to diversity can also be seen through our academic curriculum.

AJU relies on multiple revenue streams: tuition, private giving (for annual funding, capital projects and our endowment/quasi-endowment), investments, and revenue from our auxiliary services.

The report that our institution produced for the 2016 WSCUC team visit found that AJU had made significant progress in systemizing assessment and program review processes, possesses a strong commitment to transparency and ethical behavior with our internal campus and external constituencies, has devoted teacher-scholars as faculty, embraces an institutional culture of collaboration, and has a dedicated and active Board of Directors. The areas that it identified as needing improvement included increasing enrollment in our Schools, devoting more efforts to recruit quality students in our academic programs, improving student retention and graduation rates, revamping our website to make it more inviting and thorough, enhancing technological infrastructure in the classroom and AJU buildings, providing more technology training for faculty and staff, and conducting staff reviews in a more thorough manner.

As will be detailed in this report, we have focused since the 2016 WSCUC site visit on the recommendations of the commission, including continuing the academic rigor in our Schools, student recruitment and retention in our academic programs, improving student services, investing in technologies for the classrooms and university, and enhancing campus security. A few developments at our university over the past year are mentioned at the onset of this report for context (These topics are presented in more detail later in this report, especially in the sections on the College of Arts & Sciences and Current Issues and Other Changes Facing the Institution.)

Dr. Robert Wexler and our Board of Directors reached an agreement for him to step down as President and become a full professor with tenure at the end of the 2017-2018 academic year. Dr. Wexler served as president for twenty-six years and we are grateful for his service and many achievements for our university. After a six-month national search, our Board hired Dr. Jeffrey Herbst on June 6, 2018 as the fourth president of AJU. Dr. Herbst comes to us with extensive experience leading universities and non-profit organizations, including serving as the President of Colgate University from 2010 to 2015 and most recently as president and CEO of the Newseum and Newseum Institute in Washington DC. We are excited for the new leadership of President Herbst as he draws on his over three decades of academic and administrative experience to lead our university to new initiatives in the twenty-first century.

After extensive discussion across the University, President Herbst announced to all students, staff, faculty and alumni on October 5, 2018 that AJU had made the decision to sunset the current undergraduate college. The university had tried various reforms over two decades to change the current program but student enrollment numbers, especially in recent years, have been disappointing. Rather than continue with past efforts that had not shown success, AJU has decided to end the old curriculum and explore the potential of developing an entirely new undergraduate program. Sunsetting CAS is a brave and important decision because it allows us to redirect our energies to designing a successor program that will be aligned with our mission, utilizes twenty-first century pedagogy and technology, and is fiscally sustainable and attractive to a modern undergraduate population. We recognize that few universities in the country attempt to design an undergraduate program from a proverbial blank page, but we believe that this level of ambition is appropriate for AJU. At the same time, AJU remains fully committed to ensuring that all currently active CAS students are able to continue and complete their studies.

No other divisions within the University, including the three other Schools, ZSRS, GCJE, and GSNPM, are affected by this change.

A working group has been created to help develop exciting, thoughtful undergraduate programming that takes advantage of the latest thinking in educational practice, technology, and student affairs. This group includes members of the faculty, staff, and alumni as well as constituents from the wider community with expertise in educational programming, innovation and understandings of Jewish culture and heritage. The working group has dedicated substantial time to the design process, including conducting an exhaustive nation-wide search to find a consultant. In January, we hired Professor Brett Taylor and his company New School Innovation to consult on the creation of the successor undergraduate program. Dr. Taylor previously founded a high school and he is an innovative professor of educational entrepreneurship. He found our project “audacious” and unlike almost anything else being done in higher education. We have now engaged in an intentional design project to develop the contours of an exciting new undergraduate program.

Response to Issues Identified by the Commission

This main section of the report should address the issues identified by the Commission in its action letter(s) as topics for the Interim Report. Each topic identified in the Commission's action letter should be addressed. The team report (on which the action letter is based) may provide additional context and background for the institution's understanding of issues.

Provide a full description of each issue, the actions taken by the institution that address this issue, and an analysis of the effectiveness of these actions to date. Have the actions taken been successful in resolving the problem? What is the evidence supporting progress? What further problems or issues remain? How will these concerns be addressed, by whom, and under what timetable? How will the institution know when the issue has been fully addressed? Please include a timeline that outlines planned additional steps with milestones and expected outcomes. Responses should be no longer than five pages per issue.

I.) STUDENT ENROLLMENT DATA AND RETENTION AND GRADUATION RATES FOR GRADUATE SCHOOL PROGRAMS, FALL 2015 THROUGH FALL 2018

The July 2016 Commission Action Letter directed our institution to focus on student enrollment for the academic programs in AJU Schools, most notably the College of Arts & Sciences (CAS) as one of the smallest colleges in the country. This section of the report presents student enrollment and recruitment data, narratives, and strategies for the programs in our three graduate schools: the a.) Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies; the b.) Graduate Center for Jewish Education; and the c.) Graduate School of Nonprofit. (The next section of this report is centered on CAS, which the Commission team singled out in its visit for more focused attention.)

Ziegler has maintained strong enrollment numbers despite a challenging admissions environment for rabbinical schools, and that the Graduate Center for Jewish Education has launched a new program in Early Childhood Education that attracted a large number of students in its pioneer cohort. The Graduate School of Nonprofit enrollment numbers have remained roughly the same in the past few years (when removing the irregular thesis-only students from the total headcounts), and we are optimistic that new certificate programs and a student recruitment initiative will enhance enrollment for the School.

The student enrollment numbers for the Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies (ZSRS) has been consistent. The program’s total student count has remained nearly the same during the last four years, with the School consisting of forty-nine students in fall 2015, forty-eight students in fall 2016, forty-six students in fall 2017, and forty-six students in fall 2018. Ziegler has also been successful at recruiting new students, with the program attracting eleven new students in fall 2015, eight new students in fall 2016, ten new students in fall 2017, and nine new students in fall 2018.

We are pleased with the consistent number of students in Ziegler because developments in the rabbinical school landscape in recent decades have presented challenges. Over the past twenty years, the number of applicants to all rabbinical schools has declined by about twenty-five percent, the number of congregations affiliated with the Conservative denomination of Judaism (the denomination with which Ziegler is affiliated) has dropped significantly, and the number of rabbinical schools available to prospective students has almost doubled. The competition between rabbinical schools for students has grown increasingly more competitive, while at the same time there is a shrinking pool of possible candidates. In considering this context, the constancy of ZSRS student enrollment and retention numbers is a significant accomplishment.

ZSRS admissions strategy takes advantage of the School's denominational cohesion within Conservative Judaism and a deep knowledge of the communities to engage with to find prospective students. Conservative summer camps, schools, and programs in Jerusalem are all useful institutions for ZSRS deans and admissions staff to visit and recruit through. For example, the ZSRS dean and associate dean travel each year to Israel to meet Americans who are considering careers as rabbis, and during the summer months, they visit and teach at camps Ramah throughout North America. Ziegler also maintains a steady social media and web presence, through Facebook, podcasts, videos, essays and articles, that keep prospective students engaged and connected, along with a growing number of people who find themselves drawn to the kind of religion at the Ziegler School. This helps to create a community around Ziegler, and it results in "indirect" student recruitment by people finding information about our School and programs through our web community.

ZSRS is also working on designing two enhanced academic offerings that we believe will help with recruitment: 1) a Masters in Jewish Studies that will give students a chance to study Judaism and Jewish culture in an academic setting, expose them to the AJU and ZSRS communities, and possibly influence some students to go on to rabbinical studies; and 2) a Doctor of Hebrew Letters (DHL) that will permit ZSRS students to begin work on their doctorate while still in the rabbinical program. It is our expectation that a few students will be attracted to pursue their rabbinical studies at the Ziegler School because of this added academic depth and recognition that the new degree programs would provide.

Finally, ZSRS has secured a substantial gift that will make it possible for the School to subvert the expense for up to twelve students for the first two years of their learning in the rabbinical program. This will give Ziegler a significant financial competitive advantage compared to its sister rabbinical schools. It will also help with enrollment by giving prospective students who cannot afford our School to have the financial capacity to do so.

The ZSRS goal in the next several years is to continue to have forty-five to fifty students in the School, and we are confident based on the recruitment efforts described above, that we are positioned to achieve this result.

We are excited to report that the Graduate Center for Jewish Education (GCJE) has made strategic changes to appeal to today’s student that has resulted in a roughly fifty percent increase in student enrollment for the School over the past year. The School’s total student count remained approximately the same for the 2015-16 through 2017-18 academic years before having a significant increase in students during the current 2018-19 academic year, with the GCJE consisting of nineteen students in fall 2015, nineteen students in fall 2016, seventeen students in fall 2017, and thirty-three students in fall 2018. The recent increase in the total number of students in the School is the result of the launch of a successful new program in early childhood education during the current academic year, as noted by the GCJE attracting eleven new students in fall 2015, eight new students in fall 2016, nine new students in fall 2017, and twenty-four new students in fall 2018.

The GCJE since 2015 has worked hard to increase the number of students in all of our programs. The Masters of Arts in Teaching (MAT) degree has seen a steady increase in enrollment in recent years because prior to the fall 2016 semester, we only started a new cohort of students every other year, whereas we now begin new student cohorts each academic year. While some of the student cohorts are slightly smaller than the ones before 2016, the decision to start a new group of students each annum has led to an overall increase in student numbers. We are especially proud that the students in our MAT program come from diverse teaching backgrounds. We have students in our MAT program who work in their jobs as teachers and administrators, from the kindergarten to high school levels. They teach a wide degree of subjects, including general education, Hebrew, and Jewish Studies. The varied backgrounds of our current students allow for rich classroom discussions, and make our programs attractive to a wide range of prospective students.

The student enrollment numbers in our Master of Arts in Education (MAEd) program has been declining in recent years, with the degree program having eleven students in fall 2015, eight students in fall 2016, seven students in fall 2017, and five students in fall 2018. Our enrollment decrease is due to a change in graduate school culture for this degree, which many similar programs throughout the country are also facing, as well as challenges unique to the field of Jewish education. Fewer people are taking off two years from fulltime work in order to be trained in such programs. And the field of Jewish education, especially for jobs at religious schools, is challenging for educators because they are expected to work mostly at night and on weekends (this is when classes are typically held) while receiving very modest compensation without much opportunity for wage growth over time. As a result, fewer people are deciding to work for Jewish religious schools, and there is less demand for our MAEd degree. Currently, all of the students in our MAEd program have fulltime jobs in addition to completing their coursework. All of these factors have led to a decline in enrollment for our MAEd program over the past five years.

With the decrease in enrollment in our MAEd program, we embarked on a project to ascertain if we are meeting the needs of the Jewish educational community, specifically with in Los Angeles. We talked with prospective students, educators, and leaders in the field, and we discovered a need in our community for training early childhood educators and for those people who teach Hebrew. Out of this research, we decided to create a new MAEd in Early Child Education (ECE), which launched in fall 2018 with a pioneer cohort of eighteen students. Based on communications with leaders and educators in the Los Angeles ECE community, we are optimistic that we will attract a similar number of new students in coming years.

We recruit for all of our degree programs by providing pro bono training sessions at religious schools to increase awareness of the GCJE in the community. In addition, we meet regularly with educational leaders in synagogues, and Jewish schools and camps, to tell them about our degree programs. As a result of these efforts, we have found in surveys of our new students that a large number of them reach out to us “on their own” based on recommendations that they received from someone in the Jewish community. We also found that the alumni of our programs refer new students to us, and as a result, we have revitalized efforts to engage alumni from our programs to continue to build community and connections to new prospective students.

Based on our review of the Jewish education field in the Los Angeles area, we also discovered that some prospective students are seeking more specialized training, such as through non-academic certificate and cohort programs that they see as a more affordable replacement option for a master’s degree. As a result, we are exploring new avenues for specialized training in the teaching of Hebrew language, special needs, and Jewish nature education. Along with our successful MAEd in ECE, we are optimistic that these new programs will help to maintain and perhaps expand upon our recently increased student enrollment in coming years. We seek over the next few years to have five to ten students in our MAED program, approximately ten students in our MAT program, and twenty-five to thirty-five students in our MAEd in ECE program.

The Graduate School of Nonprofit Management (GSNPM) has maintained consistent enrollment numbers in its programs within a highly competitive business school environment. The GSNPM total student count (when excluding Thesis-Only students; more on this below) has remained nearly the same for the past four years, with twenty-eight students in fall 2015, twenty-one students in fall 2016, twenty students in fall 2017, and twenty-two students in fall 2018. Currently, the GSNPM is anticipating twenty-one students in the spring 2019 semester, with two MBA students expected to return from maternity leave. We average one to two non-matriculating students per semester, including students in dual programs or starting graduate coursework while completing their undergraduate degrees. Non-profit professional leaders can also audit MBA courses, with the approval of the dean.

MBA Thesis-Only is a one-credit course that has been previously available only to matriculating students. It allowed them to stay enrolled in the MBA program and complete their thesis requirement. In order to support students and increase graduation rates, the policy regarding the thesis component of the degree was changed in 2015 to allow former students, who were not currently matriculating in the program, but who had completed all required coursework except for their thesis, to reenroll in the program and take and complete the thesis course. As a result, since 2015 approximately thirty-eight former students have reenrolled and graduated with their MBA through the GSNPM. Therefore, we now anticipate a sharp decrease in the enrollment numbers for MBA Thesis-Only after spring 2019.

The challenges to completion of the Thesis were reviewed and addressed in a way that we believe enhances the educational experience of our students, while helping students to complete our MBA program. In 2017, the MBA Thesis was adapted to a “Capstone project,” which entails students creating a strategic business plan for a nonprofit organization or social enterprise. We created a required Capstone course, and the syllabus for it was designed to provide students with lessons, timelines, and support for completion of the project. Current students with extenuating circumstances only may request approval from the Dean to take MBA Thesis-Only. Students must complete the Capstone class within two semesters of the MBA Thesis-Only course in order to graduate with the MBA degree.

In addition to adjusting the thesis component of the MBA program, the GSNPM has taken several other steps in the past few years to boost enrollment and support students for retention and toward graduation. For example, in order to attract more students, we created and launched a Graduate Certificate in Social Entrepreneurship and a Graduate Certificate in Fundraising. We are marketing these certificate programs to current and new students, including professionals in companies with a strong social purpose, interfaith networks, social enterprises, civic sector professionals and specific nonprofit organizations throughout Southern California. Certificate students will be encouraged to transition into the full MBA program.

We have also created the AJU MBA Alumni Network and put in place a ten-member leadership team to enhance alumni engagement and assist with recruiting prospective students. The alumni team members will host four to six alumni events per year to provide opportunities for networking and recruitment. Finally, we continue our traditional recruitment efforts based on personal referrals, with the School’s dean already having met with multiple student prospects since the beginning of fall 2018. All prospective students are invited to visit one or more classes, to meet, connect and share a meal with current students and alumni, and interact with MBA faculty. We have found that approximately ninety percent of all current students cite a personal referral as their primary connection to AJU and the MBA program.

With our existing recruiting strategies, coupled with our new alumni-based recruitment initiative and certificate programs, we are optimistic that GSPN is positioned to continue to attract students to our School’s programs. Our goal for the next few years is to grow enrollment in all of our programs to thirty students.

II. UNDERGRADUATE COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES

As noted above, in October 2018 the Board decided to pause admission to the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) and sunset the current undergraduate program. Below, we report primarily on our response to the recommendations for CAS by the 2016 WSCUC site team because we feel it important to demonstrate the work that has been done and document our respect for the accreditation process. This work will benefit current undergraduates whom, as noted above, we remain committed to teaching.

A main recommendation from the 2016 WSCUC site visit committee was for AJU to focus on enrollment growth and enhancing the student experience in CAS. Since given this recommendation, we have put considerable resources and time on the task, notably by creating a new CAS core curriculum and majors/minors to appeal to students, making significant investments in student recruitment and marketing, and enhancing co-and extra-curricular programs for students, including conducting surveys to better understand their needs. These efforts are described in depth in this section because they constitute what we have spent the majority of the time on since the last visit in responding to WSCUC's recommendations. We also discuss at the end of this section the sunset of the current CAS program and our efforts to date on developing a successor undergraduate program.

The CAS student enrollment numbers has remained roughly the same over the past several years, with the School consisting of seventy-four students in fall 2015, sixty-five students in fall 2016, sixty-seven students in fall 2017, and seventy students in fall 2018. Despite rigorous and ongoing recruitment and marketing efforts over the College’s existence and especially since the 2016 accreditation visit, CAS has been unable to grow beyond roughly seventy students since 2015. Retention of new first-time freshman remains positive in the first academic year, but there has been a fairly consistent loss of students beyond their freshman year. Retention for transfer students varies significantly by cohort and program of study; therefore, graduation rates for transfer students vary widely.

B. New Core Curriculum and Majors and Minors for CAS

As part of our effort to increase undergraduate enrollment numbers and improve the College student experience, the CAS core faculty and deans spent considerable time revamping the undergraduate program’s core curriculum and creating new majors and minors. The new core curriculum went into effect in fall 2016.

1.) College Core Curriculum Overhaul Rationale:

AJU as a university has the terms leadership, identity, and innovation as its core values.² However, these values, along with the five pillars of learning & scholarship, culture, ethics, leadership, and people hood were not clearly integrated into the old CAS core curriculum, brand, or identity. Rather, CAS under its previous core curriculum had positioned itself in generic terms: as a modest, liberal arts institution that offers personalized faculty mentorship and small, student-focused courses. While CAS has always offered more specialized, engaging majors like Biology & Bioethics, and Media Arts, it had not yet distinguished itself through its core curriculum and general education requirements. Not only did this mean that CAS lacked a strong, clear identity as an undergraduate college, it also meant that there had not been a sustained discussion and determination about what an undergraduate education should really mean at AJU. This led to an inconsistency with regard to which courses all undergraduates should complete in order to be well-rounded, effective, and productive professionals and community members.

While our old core curriculum provided general foundation skills and students with some flexibility through open-ended seminar classes, virtually all colleges and universities can offer their students a general, foundational core curriculum that (supposedly) provides students with a well-rounded liberal arts education. There was little special or unique about our old core requirements, and as such, these courses did not provide CAS students with a significant and unified academic experience related to our mission and identity as a university or college. On certain levels, we recognized that CAS, due to its small size, would be unlikely to compete with larger, more expansive institutions that offer a host of academic, student, and recreational, and co-curricular experiences.

However, we concluded that one area that we could distinguish ourselves was through the development of a specific academic brand that included a more specialized and unique core curriculum, related to the larger university mission. In carving out a specific niche for ourselves through a new core curriculum, we thought that we could become known as a school that prepares certain kinds of students—in this case, students who are deeply prepared academically and practically in the areas of social justice and ethical leadership. In so doing, we could promote ourselves as a college that not only mentors students towards a deeper understanding of local, national, and international issues and concerns, but also instructs students on effective ways to contribute to the larger community. Further, we saw the new core as helping to produce strong leaders through the cultivation of moral reasoning and by providing students with a deeper understanding of ethnic, national, economic, gender, socioeconomic, cultural, and international differences, while teaching them ways to counteract related inequalities. (For a more detailed explanation as to why we chose social justice and ethical leadership as themes for our new curriculum please see Appendix 1: Social Justice and Ethical Leadership Theme for the College.)

In addition to creating a new core curriculum advocating themes of social justice and ethical leadership, we also made specific changes to general education courses like College Writing, Math, and general Natural Sciences courses for non-majors. These changes were aimed at making these requirements more effective, more streamlined and more consistent with national college and university norms.

Collectively, we felt that the new core curriculum helped express the identity of the undergraduate college while fitting within the larger AJU mission. We also believed that it would help us to distinguish our college and attract a wider and more accomplished pool of students.

2.) New CAS Majors & Minors

The below majors and minors have been revised or developed for CAS since the last WSCUC visit. The new minors have been in effect since fall 2016 and the new majors since fall 2018. We believed when we created the majors and minors that they would appeal to our current students, as well as attract new students to our College.

Since we will sunset the existing undergraduate college, the students in these programs will be fully supported in completing their degrees, but no new students will be enrolled in them with the hold now in place on all programs in CAS. These programs, along with all of those in effect through fall 2018, will be reviewed as a part of the overall college review process that began in October 2018 to assess the best path forward for AJU with an undergraduate program. It is possible that these new minors and majors could be part of a new program.

2a.) New CAS Interdisciplinary Minors

With the new, trimmed down CORE requirements that were effective in fall 2016, CAS students had a greater ability to select and complete a minor in addition to a major. This allowed us to create and offer interdisciplinary minors to our college students that utilized courses already being offered. It gave our students the opportunity to select and complete new minors and be exposed to different perspectives and discipline-specific knowledge in a variety of academic areas. Care was taken to ensure that each new interdisciplinary minor had a sufficient number of applicable classes so that a student may complete it in a timely fashion. Each interdisciplinary minor consists of eighteen credits or six courses. Below are descriptions of them; for more details regarding them please go to our academic catalog. The students who remain in our sunset CAS program can still complete these minors, and it is possible that these minors will factor into our successor undergraduate program.

Global Studies Minor: This minor draws from several disciplines to provide students with the conceptual and empirical knowledge needed to understand our increasingly interconnected global community. With this minor, students will develop recognition of the historical, political, psychological, social, and religious factors underscoring globalization. Students will be able to choose classes on a diverse set of global topics, including those on cross-cultural psychology, democracy, the environment, immigration, religious movements, and war. The minor is suited for students interested in global studies as well as those preparing for an array of graduate schools and careers in which an international awareness is needed, such as those in business, government, global affairs, the law, politics, psychology, and religion.

American Studies: This interdisciplinary minor involves the study of U.S. culture, politics, and art from different perspectives and disciplines. Students choosing a minor in American studies will gain a deeper understanding and knowledge of what it has meant and what it currently means to be “American” and how being “American” may differ from other nationalities. Students will also engage with contemporary American issues (e.g., race, class, gender, economics, and politics) while developing their own position on these issues.

Human Rights & Advocacy: This interdisciplinary minor explores the contemporary field of human rights and engages students in ways to effect societal, cultural, domestic, and international change through advocacy and political, social, or cultural action.

Global Security and Terrorism Studies: This minor provides students with a background in the conceptual and substantive knowledge needed to understand the security challenges within the twenty-first century international community. Students will develop an awareness of the cultural, ethical, historical, political, and social factors underscoring conflict between states and non-state actors. Topics covered within the minor include civil and interstate war, genocide, global crime, human trafficking, the environment, epidemics, international migration, and terrorism. The minor is suitable for students with an interest in security issues as well as those preparing for graduate inquiry or careers requiring an awareness of the challenges facing our globalizing world, such as those in business, education, government, law, politics, or international relations.

2b.) Division of the Politics and Global Studies Department into Three Majors: Political Science, Global Studies, and Legal Studies

Prior to fall 2018, the Politics and Global Studies Department in CAS offered one major called Politics & Global Studies with three concentrations: 1) Political Science; 2) US Politics, Law, and Public Policy; and 3) Global Studies. For fall 2018, these three concentrations were revised into two stand-alone majors offered within the Politics and Global Studies department: a Political Science major and a Global Studies major. These two conversions entailed no new courses or alterations of existing requirements; we simply changed them from concentrations into standalone majors.

We also converted our existing US Politics, Law, and Public Policy concentration into a standalone Legal Studies major. This major is intended for students who want to pursue professional or graduate studies in some law related area. The Legal Studies major explores the theoretical, political, ethical, and practical foundations of the law. It prepares students for law school, graduate school, or entry-level employment in law-related fields by developing an understanding of the nature, content, and operation of American law and legal institutions. Concurrently, the major promotes superior managerial, organizational, critical thinking, research, and writing skills.

The CAS Steering committee and the AJU Academic Senate approved these three majors—Political Science, Global Studies, and Legal Studies. They were then subsequently determined by WSCUC to not require substantive change review, and they were launched in fall 2018.

2c.) Education Studies Major

We also created a new B.A. in Education Studies that seeks to prepare students for potential careers in various educational settings, such as school counseling and special education, or in other nonprofit or governmental agencies. This major may be of interest to students who want to after college pursue an advanced degree in the areas of education, psychology, social work or law.

The coursework covers learning and cognition, especially as they relate to the teaching profession. Students do coursework on the art and practice of teaching as well as curricular design. The program also includes an emphasis on child development and the translation of psychological theories into educational practice. Some of the specific topics covered focus on how students acquire information, how theories of learning and cognition can help guide teaching, how cognitive skills change as children develop, basic theories of child development, and special issues that affect children's learning such as learning challenges, autism or child abuse experiences. Unlike general programs in the Liberal Arts, the B.A. in Education Studies is not intended to provide students with a teaching credential or the coursework to meet the California State standards for credentialing. However, this program may be of interest to students who wish to after college pursue further study for a teaching credential, or a Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT), Master of Arts in Education (MAED) or graduate degrees in other related fields.

The CAS Steering committee and the AJU Academic Senate approved the Education Studies major. It was then subsequently determined by WSCUC to not require substantive change review, and it was launched in fall 2018.

C.) CAS Student Recruitment and Marketing

Despite the efforts that are documented below for this section of report, enrollment in the undergraduate program did not grow. As previously mentioned, in October 2018, we announced our decision to sunset the current undergraduate curriculum. While we have ceased recruitment and marketing for this college, the experience and data that we gained over the past few years from our admissions efforts will be useful if we launch a new undergraduate program at AJU. We therefore wanted to document the marketing efforts that we undertook in response to the 2016 WSCUC site visit team's recommendations, even though they have been paused while we work on a successor undergraduate program.

Student recruitment and marketing efforts have been at the forefront of CAS for decades. The significance of these efforts has become even more intense over the last five years with decreasing student enrollment and retention across the CAS programs. Following the 2016 WSCUC visit, the institution formed a Strategic Enrollment Management committee comprised of representatives from administration, academic affairs, finance, marketing, admissions and the faculty. The committee met biweekly and discussed strategies and tactics to address enrollment and student life challenges facing AJU. In addition, the university retained the services of an outside consultant with significant expertise in student enrollment management and recruitment, and financial aid management to assist AJU in evaluating its current practices and structure. In response to ideas and processes discussed and developed by the Strategic Enrollment Management Committee, in November 2016 AJU reorganized its admissions and recruitment structure, drawing recruitment, financial aid and marketing all under the umbrella of a newly created "Enrollment Management" department.

As part of the reorganization, the Enrollment Management department was placed under the management of the Vice President of Enrollment Management & Marketing. Having senior-level leadership dedicated to this area, as well as creating a stronger link between departments and activities, allowed for more focus on and coordination between the admissions, financial aid, and marketing staff. Further investments were made to this department via additional positions, including a specialized Jewish community network recruiter added in late 2016, an additional senior recruiter position focused on transfer and international students in fall 2017, and a seasonal regional recruiter in fall 2018. The department also invested in further training of all recruiters and restructured the admissions decisions committee to create greater opportunities for faculty involvement.

In order to build on the growth and development of the new Enrollment Management department, AJU also adopted a new personalized admissions strategy, where all communication with identified prospective students was tailored to the specific individual student. Potential students as well as admitted students received multiple, highly personalized communications from administrators and faculty either encouraging them to apply to AJU or welcoming them after admissions. Admitted students were each invited to campus to spend "48 hours with AJU", with lodging and custom activities and tours. In order to leverage the excitement and passion of our current students, a new Admissions Ambassadors program was launched in fall 2017. Over a dozen current students joined admissions on a regular basis to support recruitment activities, such as campus tours, class audits, and off campus fairs. The ambassadors also supported recruitment through "prospect matching" (communicating with prospective students matched for similar interests and/or backgrounds), social media "takeovers" and special events.

A new comprehensive scholarship program was launched in fall 2017. This program offered significant merit-based scholarships for students meeting a range of unique criteria. Additionally, a housing grant was created to provide free on-campus housing for one year for new students whose primary residence was beyond 100 miles from campus. A new financial aid and scholarship packaging process was also designed to improve communication and clarify processes for families.

As new programs and recruitment strategies have been developed, significant effort was also given to develop streamlined and accurate data management and digital communications. Internally, improvements were made to our prospect and applicant tracking systems to better identify and track prospects throughout the admissions funnel. Investments were made in lead generation through list buys (Cappex, College Board, CBSS, Naviance, Hobsons, etc) and college search engines. Externally, significant improvements were made to the AJU website (detailed below) creating additional touch points with students, their parents and college counselors. A working group of alumni and current students were deployed to overhaul specific social media platforms with the goal of leveraging student voices to “tell our story” in social spaces visited by recruits.

After analysis of historical data and future growth opportunities, AJU refined recruitment territories to maximize resources and leverage key areas. In addition to our “backyard” of the greater Los Angeles region, AJU’s western state recruitment focused on San Diego, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Las Vegas, Phoenix, Tucson, and Denver. Specific focus given to developing a specific recruitment strategy for the Midwest region, and to focus recruitment efforts on cities that are weather impaired and have mid-sized Jewish communities such as the Chicago area, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Columbus, Cleveland, and Cincinnati also was begun.

Finally, efforts were formalized and increased in regard to AJU’s existing Gap Year partnerships in Israel. A focused staff member spearheaded additional communication and regular in-person Israel visits to connect with gap year participants. Additional scholarship opportunity exclusively for gap year graduates was developed, and a streamlined application process was implemented. AJU sponsored several gap year fairs and events, and partnered with local consultants working with individual student placements after their gap year completion. Separate from Gap Year activity, partnership was renewed with local feeders such as Hillel 818, to provide social opportunities for our current students and a transfer funnel to AJU from local community colleges.

D. Status and Scope of Student Services and Co-and Extra-Curricular Programs

The commission letter also recommended that we make, “targeted investments in student services, extra-curricular programs, and co-curricular programs, including residential life, to help increase enrollment in the College of Arts and Sciences and re-establish a positive.” With the help of Jessica Krause, our Director of Student Affairs and Residential Life, we have done significant work in this area, including optimizing processes for Disability Determination Services (DDS), aligning AJU Health Center hours with student needs, forming a partnership with Hillel 818, improving the annual gala party, holding monthly themed Shabbat dinners, increasing budgets for student clubs, and creating more student activities such as a Carnival. In addition, we have conducted surveys and focus groups with students to understand how better to provide them with services. Again, these important innovations will benefit current students, and what we have learned regarding them can factor into our creation of a successor undergraduate program.

1. Optimizing DSS Processes

The Student Affairs office has worked with the faculty administrative assistant to provide proctoring for students who need additional time for testing. Under this new arrangement, students have much greater flexibility as to when they can take their tests than under the previous system when they had to coordinate test-taking times with their professors.

2. AJU Health Center

We reviewed the AJU Health Center hours to better align with the times that most students are on campus. We now have the center open from 8:30am-2:30pm Monday through Thursday, which are hours that we have discovered to be more beneficial for our students.

3. Partnership with Hillel 818

AJU began a partnership with Hillel 818 in 2015 that we have worked to expand since the most recent WSCUC site visit. Hillel 818 is the area Hillel for schools in the Los Angeles valley area. During the 2017-2018 school year, the organization came to campus several times to advertise their programs and student affairs. We also include Hillel programming announcements in the weekly school newsletter.

In fall 2017, Hillel 818 hosted their gala party at AJU and our students and staff helped with the implementation of the event. For the 2018-2019 school year, the partnership between AJU and Hillel 818 is being further developed. A representative from the organization led a session during our AJU new student orientation, and programming developed by AJU and Hillel 818 students is in the works. The AJU student government president is also serving as a Hillel 818 intern this academic year to help increase the connection between the two organizations.

4. Annual Gala

The Annual Gala is a formal dance primarily for undergraduate students. In spring 2016, Student Affairs implemented the "Gala Committee," which is open to all AJU students who are interested in helping plan the event. Students on the committee participate in all aspects of planning from choosing decorations, interviewing DJs, and menu planning. With students more involved in setting up the event, we have had much greater student satisfaction with the Gala.

5. Monthly themed Shabbat dinners

Sponsored by the J-Life Club, we host monthly themed Shabbat dinners for students. Dinner themes have included: a Welcome Back Shabbat dinner in August, a Rosh Hashanah dinner in September, a Thanksgiving Shabbat dinner in November, a Hanukah Shabbat dinner in December, a Tu Bishvat Shabbat dinner in January, and a Comfort Shabbat Dinner in March. All Shabbat dinners include themed decorations, a catered meal, activities, and a Shabbat service.

6. Student Clubs

Students had previously told us that the club budgets were too small for the programming that they wanted to plan. Therefore, in spring 2016, club budgets were increased from $100 a school year to $500 a school year. This has allowed clubs to plan more programs, and to have more resources for events.

7. Targeted Activities

A one-day retreat beginning in fall 2016 to our Brandeis-Bardin campus in Simi Valley was added as part of new student orientation for each year. The Brandeis-Bardin campus has extensive nature trails and camp activities, such as archery, team building events, horse riding, hiking, and a pool. Students enjoy the opportunity to spend time at this beautiful campus doing fun events and getting to know their new classmates.

In spring 2018, a carnival event on our Familian Campus was also successfully planned and held by students. It has since has been added to the annual calendar of events, and it will be made a per annum tradition. The carnival includes games such as a dunk tank and sumo suits, snacks, prizes, a costume contest, a fortuneteller, and a caricature artist.

8. Surveys of Undergraduate Students

We have been conducting more surveys to understand the needs and concerns of our students. For example, we gave the students a survey about the Gala to figure out how we can improve the experience for them; and we have also been conducting surveys of our incoming classes of new students to better understand why they came to AJU. Examples of these two surveys are included in Appendix 2.

9. Focus Groups

The Director of Student Affairs conducted focus groups with students in spring 2016 to discuss CAS programs and activities. Two focus groups were held with five students attending each one. One group included only resident students, and the other group consisted of commuter students. A variety of areas related to residence life, student life, and student services were discussed. Students offered suggestions on areas for improvement, and those ideas were discussed with upper administration on behalf of the students. Focus groups with current students will likely be a part of the planning and development process during the design of a new undergraduate college.

E. Sunset of the CAS and Working Group and Efforts for a New College

Our university announced in October 2018 its decision to pause CAS admissions and sunset the current undergraduate curriculum. This decision was based in part on that the aforementioned efforts in this section of the report did not yield an increase in the number of CAS students. In fact, CAS had a small decrease in student enrollment (the college had seventy-four students in FA-15 and only seventy students in FA-18) despite more resources devoted to it. After decades of tweaking the existing CAS program (such as by changing curriculums, hiring more admissions staff, and adding student activities and services), we concluded that our current model for an undergraduate college was unsustainable, and that the optimal path forward for AJU is to sunset CAS and start anew from a fresh foundation.

As President Herbst explained, “The issue of maintaining one of the smallest undergraduate programs in the country has been a concern for many years. After numerous efforts to shift programming, enhance marketing and grow enrollment, we have determined that pausing the current undergraduate program is the best alternative, but we are extremely excited about using the opportunity to investigate and design new academic offerings,” he concluded.

The university’s Board of Trustees also reviewed and approved the plan to pause admissions and sunset the current undergraduate program. There will be no faculty lay-offs associated with this action. No other divisions within the university, including other academic programs such as the Ziegler School for Rabbinic Studies, Graduate Center for Jewish Education, or Graduate School of Nonprofit Management, will be affected by this change.

The university ceased recruiting for its undergraduate program immediately upon the announcement, while committing to ensure that the roughly seventy active students (as of October 2018) in CAS can continue and complete their studies. The CAS deans and faculty are committed to providing all of the existing students with the college education that they came to AJU in order to receive. President Herbst, Dr. Totten, and other academic administrators and staff held open forums with the students to answer all of their questions and address concerns about the announcement. They have also responded to all email inquiries from current students, and met one-on-one with many of them to address their specific concerns about the College sunset. The Chairs of the College’s academic departments have also worked closely with their advisees who have had questions or concerns about it. In addition, we appointed an academic liaison to give ongoing support for our students, and we have maintained an area of our university website that provides info and Q&A’s for our students. When taking account of seniors who are graduating, and a few students who have decided to transfer to other colleges, we estimate that we will have thirty-five to forty CAS students returning in the fall 2019 semester.

Shortly after the decision was made, President Herbst established a working group comprised of faculty, staff, and a CAS alumnus to explore and design new academic initiatives based on best practices that will take advantage of the dynamism of our Los Angeles location, and AJU’s ethical and moral foundations. President Herbst and Dr. Totten are part of the working group and they are closely engaged with the process of rethinking an undergraduate program at AJU. “My colleagues and I,” Herbst has explained, “are excited about the prospect of developing a cutting-edge program that takes advantage of new technology and pedagogy in academics, and we view this opportunity as a unique chance for a university to fully engage in fresh thinking regarding undergraduate education.”

The working group, and subcommittees of it, has met many times since the October decision was made. It has spent the first few months of its meetings devising a strategy and process for evaluating if and what type of college model is a good fit for AJU. The working group reached out to over ten higher education consultants and design firms, and met in person or via Skype with several of them to hear their thoughts on higher education trends and our School, and if and how they could help us with a process of considering and possibly designing a new college. After an exhaustive search, the working group has entered a contract with Dr. Brett Taylor of New School Innovation Consulting.

New School’s innovative design thinking process that is anchored in higher education knowledge is a good fit for helping us with a new college and creating programming that takes advantage of the latest thinking in educational practice, technology, and student affairs. Dr. Taylor has devised a process that began in February 2019 for us to design, market, and launch a new undergraduate program by the fall 2021 semester. The goal is to create an innovative and sustainable program that will support the needs of real students in the twenty-first century. The development plan entails four stages: a first stage of roughly three months that helps us determine student needs and defines our design parameters for a new college; a second stage of approximately three months that entails identifying multiple programmatically solutions for a new college; a third stage of about six months in which we prototype, design, and test potential solutions for a new college; and a fourth stage of roughly six months in which we finalize and launch the college program that is optimal for AJU. Each stage, which take three to six months apiece, include project and marketing reports, weekly meetings, and structured facilitation sessions with stakeholders in a new college (e.g., faculty, administrators, alumni, current students in CAS, rabbis in the community, etc.)

Throughout this process, members of the appointed working group will also be working closely with AJU's Academic Affairs Committee of the Board of Directors, which has scheduled six meetings in the spring 2019 semester devoted to evaluating the progress being made with the new College.

III. CLASSROOMS, WEBSITE, AND TECHNOLOGY

The July 8, 2016 commission letter recommended that we make, "targeted investments in facilities and technology, including classrooms and the institution's web presence. Such investments should enhance AJU's competitive advantage and, therefore, yield solid results in student enrollment and student satisfaction." In the past few years, we have devoted significant resources and time to enhancing our website, and technology systems for the university, including its classrooms.

A. Website

A large-scale website review, redesign, redevelopment and enhancement of all online properties associated with www.aju.edu was undertaken beginning in August 2016 and completed (launched publicly) in April 2018. This eighteen-month design and development process was done from the ground up, analyzing and developing each piece of the newly improved website from scratch.

The key areas of focus for this project were aimed at improving (a) navigation and page architecture, (b) design and mobility, (c) content and SEO (search engine optimization) and (d) ADA compliance. The goals of the redesign process were to increase visitor engagement and increase connection with prospective and current students, and community members.

An outside web design firm was contracted to assist the internal AJU team during the beginning of the project to help review the current website, research best practices in higher education webspaces, and identify areas of improvement, growth and new development. The community (including students, staff, faculty and outside constituents) were surveyed to determine strengths and weaknesses of the previous website. We also conducted a review of peer institutions' websites to examine best practices, commonalities and trends in the area.

Following the research phase, we spent the bulk of the project in development. A new sitemap and navigation structure were created to provide users with more straightforward and intuitive pathways to key information on programming, admissions, financial aid and student services. Assisted by an outside developer, AJU designed and developed wireframes that provided content sections that were shorter and more interactive, and that cleanly translated to a mobile environment. Our key objectives in this phase were to create a simplified menu structure where major content relevant to new students and their parent, and community members interested in our university's programs, were never more than two clicks from the homepage. Additionally, we built multiple pathways (visual, text, dropdown, etc) to accommodate different user navigation preferences.

During the third phase of the project, specific attention was paid to creating content for our webpage. New and expanded areas of information that detail student services, admissions, program particulars and campus life were developed to increase the usability of the website for prospective students. Content “pathways” that provide options for additional details or for a website visitor to ask specific questions were added to improve overall functionality of the website. Multiple touch-point options were integrated into page and content structure to allow users and students to “stop out” of the page and connect with an admissions or university representative. More specifically, a livechat function was added across the entire website to increase opportunities for engagement and to provide easy access to resources. In the first few months following the launch, livechat usage was increased by 114%.

We made a few adjustments to the web design and structure just prior to launch to conform to ADA compliance regulations for university websites. We also implemented design changes to provide accessibility of online content and functionality according to the W3C’s Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.0 Level AA and the Web Accessibility Initiative Accessible Rich Internet Applications Suite (WAI-ARIA) 1.1 for web content.

Before launch of the new website, we expanded content relevant to current students. Based on data gathered from current and past students, we decided to create a centralized single “hub” of student content related to Student Affairs, Financial Aid, Technology, Policies and Grievances, and the Registrar’s Office. Multiple pathways were programmed to allow current students to easily access key resources and documents, as well as expanded download and print functionality.

Last, in order to provide the best possible digital experience for users (notably, prospective and current students), we specifically tested and refined all website structure and design for optimum mobility. Key recruitment areas such as program details, resource buttons, FAQs, admissions and financial aid instructions, student services and livechat were all optimized to ensure quick and effective mobile responsiveness.

Our university’s new website can be viewed at, <https://www.aju.edu/>.

B. Technology Investments & Enhancements

This section describes seven investments and changes we made our AJU technology infrastructure and processes in response to the 2016 WSCUC team’s recommendations.

1.) Technology Enhanced Classrooms

Since the 2016 WSCUC visit, AJU has added three more technology-enhanced classrooms and upgraded the oldest classrooms on campus with current technology. We spent time searching for the latest technology available for the small classrooms arrangements on campus, and that addressed issues with some of the projectors that we were using. While most of our classrooms have projectors that display a large image (about 100” diagonally), some of them had the following issues: 1) complex connectivity, requiring cables and a switching box; 2) brightness issues with the images being displayed on the screen, especially in the afternoon when light filtered through the window blinds; and 3) issues with their interactivity because they lacked software and special hardware that sensed the movement on the board of an electronic pen or a finger. We sought to address these issues with our new projectors.

For the three upgraded classrooms, Campus Technology decided to use 70" touch screens, which provide large displays that act like a touch screen computer monitor. We also utilized a mini computer that is hidden behind the display to power the touch screens, which minimizes the need for switching equipment and resolves the issue of having multiple cables strung around the podiums of the classrooms that had projectors. The display of the new touch screens is very sharp and the audio is of high quality. We also added a feature that allows instructors to display content from the students' computers in the class.

2.) Mass Notification System

The selection process for a new mass notification system in case of emergencies began in 2016. After reviewing various solutions and providers, AJU chose Rave Mobile Safety, one of the country's leading providers in this area. Campus Technology then implemented the system in collaboration with the Facilities Department. The new system can send alerts with the click of a button through multiple communication modes such as text, voice and email. We have also integrated the new system with another system called Alertus, which allows messages sent from Rave to display on all computers and electronic devices throughout campus. We have put in place procedures to update the contacts in the Rave system from our employee database system (ADP) and our student database system (CAMS).

3.) Student Information System Tools and Consolidation of Data Entry

As in any institution, we experience turnover at times in administrative assistant positions, such as those in admissions and the registrar. Each time we have a new admin assistant, this person has to be trained in data entry standards and protocols, and this has led to concern that it might result in data being entered into our systems inaccurately. Campus Technology resolved this concern by appointing one of the trusted AJU employees to take over all of the data entry for all Admissions Offices across all AJU programs. Information from online applications and forms are automatically forwarded to this person. In addition, changes during the admissions cycle are also reported to this point person, who has been thoroughly trained and works under the supervision of Information System Administrator. This process of coordinating all admission data has been a positive solution to inconsistencies previously found in data housed across programs. This position and its duties are still being developed and managed in order to enhance the procedure in order to make it more automated and streamlined.

4.) Wireless Network

The Technology Department, with the leadership of our President Herbst, initiated a project to replace the wireless network due to inability to continue to utilize the current network with needed software upgrades. The company who installed most of the wireless network was called upon to conduct a thorough survey of the current network in order to propose a comprehensive upgrade plan. Campus Technology closely reviewed the proposal and quote. The approval to initiate the upgrade was obtained and a start date has been selected. When the installation of all new equipment is completed, AJU will be able to control many aspects of the bandwidth and access points. This will enable AJU to have up to 1000 devices concurrently using the network. This is a major improvement for campuses of our size. In addition, we recently doubled the bandwidth of Internet connection for our Familian and Brandeis campuses.

5.) Online Forms

The Technology Department has moved all forms used on campus to a new platform that is ADA compliant. All forms were recreated on the new platform and new forms are regularly added to it. Campus Technology has created integration with this platform in which submission data from selected forms are automatically added to our main database. In addition, we have enhanced our email campaigns that have links to online forms, so that the information of the recipient pre-filled on the form. This saves time for those who click on the link and consistently submit their data. In addition, when the form is submitted, a special token links the data to an existing record in our database.

6.) Alumni Information System

Alumni information at our university is spread out among different departments and programs, and it was maintained with different tools and multiple types of spreadsheets. Campus Technology is developing a solution to upload the data from all programs into our main database and reconcile it with existing data already there. This solution will allow for features that will make our alumni database more accurate and easier to use.

7) Campus Information Technology Support

In January 2019, President Herbst announced that GeekTek, a firm based in Sherman Oaks, California, would provide all IT support for both campuses. Previously, IT support was provided by a combination of a consultant and AJU employees. We believe that GeekTek, which brings a host of best practices to campus, will almost immediately provide a more robust and productive technology environment for faculty, staff and students. In the long term, GeekTek will help us update and create a new technology infrastructure and platforms that is user friendly, accessible, integrative, and university-wide for our academic programs and operations.

IV: CAMPUS SECURITY AND SAFETY

AJU is and has always been committed to providing a safe and secure environment on campus at all times for our students, staff, faculty and visitors. The safety of our campus from both external and internal threats, as well as possible natural disasters is taken seriously. The 2016 accreditation visit team recommended that we take an even closer look at security measures on campus, and after a careful review, we have made several additional steps to enhance safety on campus.

In 2017, we implemented a 24-hour security guard presence on the main AJU campus, which includes at least two guards on campus at all hours. The University has also received a $75,000 grant from the California Office of Emergency Services to upgrade current camera systems and install new cameras on our campus. This grant has been used to enhance our camera and DVR systems, and install new cameras as part of increased perimeter and interior security throughout campus. Cameras are now in place to help monitor all external areas and many internal areas of our grounds, including classrooms, offices, library, cafeteria, and all dorms and apartments.

The AJU phone system acts as a PA system allowing us to communicate immediately with the majority of the campus as needed for emergent situations and drills. However, since the 2016 WSCUC site visit, we have also installed the new RAVE alert system (described above in the Classrooms, Websites, Technology section) to instantly communicate to AJU campus and community members via phone, text, and email in case of emergency. In case of a crisis, the campus safety and maintenance departments also work directly with local and county law enforcement and other first responders, Homeland Security, and the FBI to ensure that we receive real time reports of situations and immediate responses in case of emergency. Every year, the Emergency Response Team role-plays evacuation scenarios with students on campus so as everyone can be as prepared as possible.

The University has also invested in a new key card access system that was rolled out in summer 2018. This is a more sophisticated technological system than previously used, which allows for more secured access to buildings throughout campus, as well as the gates that will be going in as part of the fence installation (more on the fence below).

We have also ensured that each dormitory is well lit, requires swipe cards for secure entry, and has one or two Resident Advisors living within them to assist students. Security guards patrol the dormitory complex and parking areas. Security personnel are based out of the Residence Life Office from 11:00 pm until 7:00 am.

After the attack against the Tree of Life Synagogue In Pittsburg, President Herbst sent communications to the AJU community, including to staff, faculty and students to ensure their sense of safety and security on campus. Keeping AJU's students, staff, faculty and guests safe is a critical priority for our institution. AJU has been regularly working with the local police departments in Los Angeles and Simi Valley, the Anti-Defamation League (ADL), the Jewish Federation of Greater Los Angeles and the Department of Homeland Security regarding security recommendations. We are currently following their security guidelines and we will continue to review our security policies and procedures to make sure that we are adhering to best practices.

We have also with the approval of the University's Board of Directors on October 29, 2018, and utilizing recommendations from the Department of Homeland Security and the Jewish Federation's Community Security Initiative, begun installing a campus-wide security fence and related security systems, including cameras and a card swipe system, on our Familian campus. The new fence around the main campus will limit access to the grounds, and it will require all staff, faculty, students and visitors to go through a security check-point prior to parking on campus or walking into the main building. Additionally, the fence will allow for an increased number of cameras and sensors to monitor visitors and incidents throughout campus grounds. The expected completion of the fence is in spring 2019. The fence will also allow for an extra layer of security at the residential complex, required key-card access to the area, and key card access to the buildings.

In addition, we have in the past month completed the installation of special telephones in each classroom on the Familian campus for use in cases of emergency. They are pre-programmed to dial 911 for immediate assistance in an emergency. The phones also allow for incoming intercom communication in case of emergency (so that the maximum number of people on campus can hear emergency announcements as they are made).

Identification of Other Changes and Issues Currently Facing the Institution

Instructions: This brief section should identify any other significant changes that have occurred or issues that have arisen at the institution (e.g., changes in key personnel, addition of major new programs, modifications in the governance structure, unanticipated challenges, or significant financial results) that are not otherwise described in the preceding section. This information will help the Interim Report Committee panel gain a clearer sense of the current status of the institution and understand the context in which the actions of the institution discussed in the previous section have taken place.

I.) Changes in Senior Staff

We have had since the 2016 WSCUC visit changes in the university's senior staff. Most notably, the Board of Directors in May 2017 started discussion with AJU President Dr. Wexler regarding his succession plan. An agreement was developed that Dr. Wexler would step down from his position on June 30, 2018, and he would become a full-time tenured faculty member at our university. Dr. Wexler served as AJU's President for twenty-six years from 1992 through 2018, and among many other achievements for our university, he opened the Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies in 1996 and merged AJU with the Brandeis-Bardin Institute in 2007. He also oversaw several major construction projects on our campus and led the growth of the university's endowment from $5 million to over $100 million. We are grateful for his service and numerous contributions to our institution.

During the 2017-2018 academic year, the Board of Directors engaged a recruitment firm to conduct a search for a new president. On June 6, 2018, and following a nearly six month national search, the AJU Board members unanimously elected Dr. Jeffrey Herbst as the fourth President of American Jewish University. Most recently, Dr. Herbst was president and CEO of the Newseum and the Newseum Institute in Washington, DC. From 2010 to 2015, he was president of Colgate University, where among other accomplishments he is credited with helping the university complete its nearly half billion-dollar fundraising campaign, leading the development and initial implementation of a university-wide strategic plan, and increasing the diversity and academic caliber of its educational programming. Additionally, Dr. Herbst was a Senior Fellow at the Brenthurst Foundation, was a two-time Fulbright Scholar, and was a trustee of Freedom House. He has also served as provost and executive vice president for academic affairs and as professor of political science at Miami University in Ohio, and taught at Princeton University for almost two decades. You can read Dr. Herbst's full curriculum vitae, biography and the official press release online at www.aju.edu/presidentialsearch.

Dr. Wexler's Presidential tenure was supported by a team of executive staff members who contributed to the development of the university under his leadership. The announcement of Dr. Wexler's retirement presented new opportunities for senior staff members, and a restructuring in some executive positions has occurred with his stepping down as president. We are appreciative of the dedicated service of departing senior leaders, while also excited to have a new president and other new senior staff members who bring a wealth of experience to lead AJU to new horizons.

On July 3, 2018, AJU's Chief Advancement Officer left AJU as a part of the on-going leadership change. Judy Feldman, a Director of Advancement at our institution, assumed responsibility for the department on an interim basis. Ms. Feldman has extensive experience in fundraising, including working at the Anti-Defamation League as director of development for Los Angeles and Houston. She has worked at AJU for four years, and she was appointed at the enthusiastic recommendation of the departing Chief Advancement Officer.

At the same time, we instituted a search for a new Vice President for Advancement and Chief Development Officer. We were pleased to announce in February 2019 that Ms. Catherine Schneider will take the position effective late in February. Ms. Schneider had most recently been Executive Vice President for Donor Experience at the Jewish Federation of Greater Los Angeles. She also held a senior development position at AIPC and at other LA-based organizations. Generally considered one of the premier fundraisers in the Los Angeles region, we believe that Ms. Schneider will be an important addition to the AJU senior staff. To learn more about Ms. Schneider, please see the press release about her appointment.

In February 2018, AJU's Vice President of Academic Affairs and Dean of the Undergraduate College left his position after four years with the institution. This departure was due to a combination of the change in leadership and him finding a position better fitted for him at a state university. At the recommendation of senior staff at AJU, President Herbst selected Dr. Robbie Totten in August 2018 to serve as Interim Chief Academic Officer and Dean of the Undergraduate College for the 2018-19 and 2019-20 academic years. Dr. Totten joined AJU in 2014 as Assistant Professor of Politics and Global Studies after having been a Visiting International Relations Assistant Professor at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Shortly after coming to AJU, he was appointed Chair of the Department of Politics and Global Studies and as Associate Professor with tenure. Dr. Totten has been AJU's Accreditation Liaison Officer since January 2018 and he served from 2017-2018 as the Interim Director of Assessment for our university. President Herbst plans to run a national search in the 2019-20 academic year to find a permanent replacement for the Chief Academic Officer role.

At the end of July 2018, the Vice President for Outreach and Dean of Whizin Center of Continuing Education left AJU. This departure was due to a combination of change in leadership and a better-fitted position for him at a different institution. Laura-Beth Sholkoff, who had worked in Whizin for a number of years, assumed responsibilities for the department as an interim director while President Herbst studies the needs of this division and makes a decision regarding the future leadership of Whizen. Ms. Sholkoff had previously overseen communications for the Whizin Center and she was exposed to all aspects of operations of the Center. She was appointed interim director at the strong recommendation of the previous head of the Whizin Center.

II.) Budget

AJU has a significant endowment and numerous opportunities for growth in tuition and philanthropic revenue. Unfortunately, in the last three years, we have experienced budget deficits.

2015-16: ≈ $1,190,273 deficit (approved budget of $73,000)

2016-17: ≈ $348,000 deficit (approved budget of $348,000)

2017-18: ≈ $2,757,000 deficit (approved budget of $2,887,000)

The reasons for the deficits include: (1.) unplanned expenses in facilities and operations, (2.) additional legal expenses as a result of the BBC merger, (3.) a decline in fundraising and annual giving, and (4.) lower than anticipated enrollment and tuition revenue in the MBA program and undergraduate college.

The enhanced investments in the MBA and college programs without increases in tuition revenue have cost our institution. For example, the CAS Admissions budget was increased by forty-four percent from 2015-2016 to 2016-2017, and again by twenty-three percent from 2016-2017 to 2017-2018. In addition, in order to grow student enrollment in CAS we increased the financial aid average for freshmen by twenty three percent (from a thirty seven percent to a sixty percent average tuition discount) in 2016-2017 and by an additional four percent (from a sixty percent to a sixty-four percent average tuition discount) in 2017-2018. We also gave free rooms in the dorms (double occupancy) to students for their first year at CAS who were living one hundred miles or more away from campus. In order to increase the number of students in the MBA program, the financial aid budget for that program was increased to forty-nine percent in 2015-2016 from thirty-three percent in 2014-2015, and again to sixty-one percent in 2016-2017 from forty-nine percent in 2015-2016. And despite these efforts, enrollment in the CAS and MBA programs has remained largely the same as it was in the past.

In addition to cutting costs where possible, we have taken two steps to address root causes of our budget deficit in recent years. We have hired a new Vice President of Advancement, along with additional fundraising support staff, to modernize our development operations and increase financial giving to the university. We have also sunset the undergraduate program, thereby cutting the large expenses of admissions and recruitment, while we evaluate what type of, if any, undergraduate college will work for our university from a mission and financial perspective. The decision to sunset the undergraduate program has provided some immediate budget relief and it will have a further positive effect on budgets starting in July 2019. In addition, President Herbst is reviewing all auxiliary services to see if we can increase revenue from the conferences, camps, and life cycle events (e.g., Bar and Bat Mitzvahs, weddings) that are held on our campus. Our university remains on firm financial footing with an endowment of approximately $90 million as of December 2018.

Concluding Statement

Instructions: Reflect on how the institutional responses to the issues raised by the Commission have had an impact upon the institution, including future steps to be taken.

As outlined in the sections above, AJU took all of the recommendations made by WSCUC and the visit team in 2016 as critical to the university and its operations.

Most importantly, we have taken dramatic steps to design a successor undergraduate program that will meet the ambitions of the university. Our decision to sunset the College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) was based on years of student data and financial planning. Putting a pause on all programs in CAS is the most appropriate choice for AJU to take at this time in order to redirect the energies of the institution. This includes creating a CAS working group, which will lead the design of new programming, ultimately moving the University as a whole forward in the future and better prepared for the current higher education atmosphere. The group includes members of the faculty, staff, and alumni as well as constituents from the wider community with expertise in educational programming and innovation, and a strong understanding of Jewish culture and heritage. With the University ceasing all recruitment activities for the current undergraduate program, the resources and personnel from those areas will also be focused on the design of the new college and student enrollment management process. At the same time, AJU remains fully committed to ensuring that all of the active students in CAS are able to continue and complete their studies, with all services and support remaining at a comparable level as it has been in previous years.

We have made technology improvements that are vital for our marketing and enrollment efforts as well as the impact for students, faculty, and staff on campus. First, a full-range website review and design was undertaken, with all redevelopment and enhancements implemented in April 2018. New technology in classrooms at the Familian campus were installed and upgraded to impact the on-going classroom experience for all students. Several other systems, including an updated wireless network, were installed on campus, allowing for better access to technology and resources for students. University forms are now readily available online, in compliance with ADA. Along with the new forms, a set of standard information system tools has been developed for student information and data received by the university. The processes developed will allow for consolidation of old and new means of data entry, with parameters set for the various positions on campus that deal directly with inputting student information. This permits standards to be followed even when there is turn over with staff in positions on campus. Finally, as part of the consistent data entry processes implementation, a new alumni information system was put into practice. This system helps to track students as they graduate and enter professional fields. Using this system will also lead to improved and more consistent communication between AJU and its graduates.

Campus safety and security is paramount to the on-going activities of all AJU programs. A newly selected mass notification system was installed, allowing for immediate and widespread communications during natural disasters and emergency situations. In addition, AJU now has a twenty-four hour security guard presence on campus, with two security guards on campus at all times. After receiving grant funds, the campus was able to upgrade its security camera systems for all teaching and administration areas as well as the dormitories. The next stage in security improvements for the university will be the installation of a perimeter fence around the entire campus. This project is underway and it is scheduled for completion in spring 2019.

The graduate programs at AJU continue to move forward with consistent retention and graduation rates, with focus on improving marketing and enrollment across the Schools a main priority for our institution.

With the sunsetting of CAS, changes in a few senior level staff positions, and a modest financial deficit, this is the best time for AJU as an institution to take a step back and develop plans for its long-term success under the new leadership of President Herbst. While no other divisions within the University, including the three other Schools (ZSRS, GCJE, and GSNPM), will be affected by the decision to sunset the college, those areas will still be considered in the planning process of a new undergraduate program and how that will feed into the on-going graduate programs. Overall, we remain optimistic about AJU's important leadership role not just in the Jewish community, but also in the wider academic community.

Appendix 1: Rationale for Social Justice and Ethical Leadership Theme of the College

Why did we choose social justice and ethical leadership as the themes of our new core curriculum in the College of Arts & Sciences (CAS) in 2016?³ As mentioned in the report, under the old core, there was no clear academic connection between the larger AJU mission and the college. We thought that not only would such a connection help solidify us as a university, we were also asked to examine this area by WASC during a recent off-site review (October 2015). We examined the AJU mission and found a number of areas that proved fruitful for a reconceptualization of the undergraduate core curriculum and general education requirements.

First, the AJU mission, in the area of learning and scholarship, emphasizes the importance of the “formal and informal study of Judaism and the great civilizations of the world.” In order to understand and be an effective community member, we see it as important for students to have a deeper understanding of various cultures, backgrounds, belief systems, and political structures, including but not limited to Judaism. New, required core curriculum classes like “Religion, Society, and the Individual,” “Global Studies” and “The People Make History,” among others, provide students with a sound foundation to fulfill this important component of AJU’s mission. In addition, the AJU mission emphasizes “peoplehood,” defining AJU as “a pluralistic institution that embraces diversity within Judaism,” and valuing “the contributions of all groups to the growth of Jewish Civilization.” Judaism or Jewish civilization, as this suggests, does not exist in a vacuum or in a self-contained impervious community. In particular, twenty-first century Jewish life is varied, expansive, and (especially in multicultural Los Angeles) is affected by and affects a number of other cultures and groups. In order to meet this goal, we see it as important that CAS students are not only knowledgeable about Jewish life, but also about other cultures and peoples as well. Our new curriculum aims to instill this wider knowledge through courses like “Religion, Society, and the Individual,” which explores a number of world religions and the aforementioned “Global Studies.”

The AJU mission also emphasizes “ethics,” specifying that, “We recognize that ethics is the language of Judaism and its most important link to the world at large.” If this is indeed so, we thought that the undergraduate college should make ethics one of the centerpieces of its core curriculum. We accomplished with the new core by mandating a required Ethics and Values class, and including the term ‘ethics’ in our thematic title of the new core. Further, through the adoption of new classes in the core curriculum like “The People Make History,” and “The Psychology of Prejudice and Injustice,” ethics is interwoven throughout most, if not all, new required classes.

We also believed that we distinguish ourselves by blending “ethics” with “leadership” which is another of the five AJU pillars. Many schools pride themselves on their ability to produce leaders, but those institutions tend to stop at leadership, whereas we sought to develop a more unique brand through the use of the unifying term ‘ethical leadership.’ We hypothesized that our undergraduate program can then become known as a place that produces ethical leaders, whose decisions and contributions are governed by moral decision making and who possess deep knowledge and understanding of cultures and peoples as well as an understanding of how to effect positive social change. It has become increasingly clear that we live in an era where political leadership often seems synonymous with corruption, hypocrisy, narcissism, and self-interested behavior. (Among other ways, this can be seen through the abysmal approval ratings of those in Congress.) In large part because of this, there appears to be a great hunger for leaders who appear to be honest, trustworthy, authentic, and fearless.

³ Dr. Daniel Grassian, the former CAS Dean, drafted this rationale based on meetings with the core CAS faculty.

We thought that by emphasizing ethics and, more importantly, providing CAS students with the knowledge and tools to become ethical leaders may end up becoming one of our greatest attributes and selling points. Not only can the “Ethical Leadership” component of our new core curriculum be seen in the mandated “Ethics and Values” class and the other mandated classes detailed above, it also in our new core manifests itself through other mandated classes like “Social Advocacy” and “Service Learning.” In these classes, students not only learn the elements of social justice and civic engagement, they also learn how to be ethical agents of change in the local or wider community. In keeping with the AJU mission, their actions will be guided by the ethical and moral theories and practices learned in the newly mandated “Ethics and Values” class as well as in other required classes.

At the same time, linking ethical leadership with a specific theoretical and action-driven framework, social justice, is important. As David Hodge argues in his article, “Social Justice and People of Faith: A Transnational Perspective,” while “no single agreed on conceptualization of social justice exists,” the term has been associated with “race, gender, age, disability, sexual orientation, and class” (139). Writing for the Journal of College and Character, Joshua Littenberg-Tobias defines social justice “as the desire to create an ideal state for society” (219). Others critics have linked social justice with poverty, communities, privilege, and oppression (Littenberg-Tobias 220). Hilary Landorf and Ann Nevin stress a connection between social justice and citizenship with civic engagement or civic action as the focal point for both (711). While these definitions have stand-alone merit, a collective feature of social justice studies is a shared commitment to the establishment of programs that help curb inequities between groups and organizations. They also tend to have a shared commitment to human rights and diversity, while generally focusing on the more marginalized groups in a society, nation, or global network. It is this kind of social justice that we want to promote in CAS students, and we feel that with our newly revised core curriculum we can promote ourselves as institution that produces ethically informed and responsible leaders who can and will improve the lives of people in the general and Jewish communities.

The same person may hold any number of offices, except that the Secretary and the Treasurer may not serve concurrently as the Chairperson or the President.

Section 9.02 Removal of Officers

Subject to the rights, if any, of an Officer under any contract of employment, any Officer may be removed, with or without cause, (i) by the Board, at any regular or special meeting of the Board, or at the Annual Meeting, or (ii) by an Officer on whom such power of removal may be conferred by the Board.

Section 9.03 Resignation of Officers

Any Officer may resign at any time by giving written notice to the Corporation. Any resignation shall take effect at the date of the receipt of that notice or at any later time specified in that notice; and, unless otherwise specified in that notice, the acceptance of the resignation shall not be necessary to make it effective. Any resignation is without prejudice to the rights, if any of the Corporation under any contract to which the Officer is a party.

Section 9.04 Vacancies in Offices

A vacancy in any office because of death, resignation, removal, disqualification, or any other cause shall be filled in the manner prescribed in these Bylaws for regular appointments to that office, provided that such vacancies shall be filled as they occur and not on an annual basis.

Section 9.05 Selection, Term and Responsibilities of Officers

(a) Chairperson

The Chairperson shall be a Director. The Chairperson shall be nominated by the Nominating and Governance Committee and elected by the Board at the Annual Meeting corresponding to the expiration of the term of the preceding Chairperson. The current Chairperson shall be permitted to serve for a total of four years, with her final term ending in 2020, and, beginning with each Chairperson elected thereafter, the Chairperson shall serve for a term of three years, commencing on the first day of July following that Annual Meeting or immediately upon his or her election, if elected after July 1, and shall not be eligible for reelection. The Chairperson shall preside at meetings of the Board and exercise and perform such other powers and duties as may from time to time be assigned to him or her by the Board or prescribed by these Bylaws.

(b) Chairperson-Elect

Prior to the Nominating Meeting in the penultimate year of a Chairperson's Term, the Nominating and Governance Committee will nominate from among the Directors a person to serve as Chairperson following the conclusion of the current Chairperson's term. Such person will be presented at the Nominating Meeting as a nominee to serve as Chairperson-Elect during the final year of the current Chairperson's term, with the expectation that the Board would elect such person as Chairperson at the end of the current Chairperson's term; provided, that the election of such person as Chairperson will in any event be subject to confirmation by the Board at the Annual Meeting preceding the commencement of such person's proposed term as Chairperson. The Chairperson-Elect will carry the title of Executive Vice Chairperson. In the event the year of such person's service as Chairperson-Elect would occur after the expiration of such person's eligibility to serve as a director, as otherwise provided under Section 7.03 of these Bylaws, such person's eligibility to serve as a director will be automatically extended for an additional year, and such person will be reassigned to a class of directors whose term extends through the year of such person's intended service as Chairperson-Elect.

(c) Vice Chairperson

One or more Vice Chairpersons, but not to exceed six, may be appointed from among the Directors by the Chairperson, subject to confirmation by the Board. Each Vice Chairperson shall serve for a term of one year. A Vice Chairperson may serve in such office for no more than six consecutive terms.

If there is no Chairperson, or in the absence of the Chairperson, a Vice Chairperson shall preside at meetings of the Board and exercise and perform such other powers and duties as may from time to time be assigned to him or her by the Board or prescribed by these Bylaws. In the event that there are multiple Vice Chairpersons present and able to preside at a meeting of the Board, and there is disagreement as to which Vice Chairperson should preside, a majority of the Directors present immediately prior to the convening of such meeting of the Board shall select which Vice Chairperson shall preside at such meeting of the Board.

(d) President and Vice Presidents

The President and Vice Presidents shall serve at the pleasure of the Board. The President shall be nominated by a special committee appointed by the Chairperson when a vacancy shall occur in the office, and shall be elected by the Board. The Vice Presidents shall be nominated by the President and approved by the Board.

If there is no Chairperson or Vice Chairperson, or in the absence of the Chairperson and all Vice Chairpersons, the President shall preside at meetings of the Board and exercise and perform such other powers and duties as may from time to time be assigned to him or her by the Board or prescribed by these Bylaws. The Vice Presidents shall have such powers and perform such duties as may be prescribed by the Board.

(e) Secretary and Treasurer; Assistant Secretaries and Assistant Treasurers

The Secretary and Treasurer shall be nominated by the Nominating and Governance Committee from among the Directors and elected at the Annual Meeting. Each of the Secretary and the Treasurer shall serve for a term of one year and may serve no more than six consecutive terms in such office. The Secretary and Treasurer shall each have such powers and perform such duties as may be prescribed by the Board.

The Board shall also have the power to designate one or more Assistant Secretaries or Assistant Treasurers, who need not be Directors, with such duties, powers, titles and privileges as the Board may fix.

(f) Additional Officers

The Board may empower the Chairperson or the President to appoint or remove such other Officers as the business of the Corporation may require, each of whom shall hold office for such period, have such authority, and perform such duties as are provided in these Bylaws or as the Board from time to time may determine.

Section 9.06 Compensation of Officers

(a) Salaries Fixed by the Executive Compensation Committee

The compensation of Covered Employees shall be fixed from time to time by the Executive Compensation Committee. No Covered Employee shall be prevented from receiving compensation by reason of the fact that he or she is also a Director; provided, however, that such compensation paid to a Director for serving as a Covered Employee shall only be allowed if permitted under the provisions of Section 7.15. In all cases, any compensation received by a Covered Employee shall be reasonable and given in return for services actually rendered for the Corporation that relate to the performance of the public benefit purposes of the Corporation. No salaried Covered Employee serving as a Director shall be permitted to vote on his or her own compensation as a Covered Employee.

(b) Fairness of Compensation

The Executive Compensation Committee shall periodically review the fairness of compensation, including benefits, paid to every Covered Employee or person proposed to be hired who would become a Covered Employee, regardless of title, with powers, duties, or responsibilities comparable to the President, any Vice President, or the Treasurer (if an employee of the Corporation) (i) at the time such person is hired, (ii) upon any extension or renewal of such person's term of employment, and (iii) when such person's compensation is modified (unless all Covered Employees are subject to the same general modification of compensation).

ARTICLE 10 TRANSACTIONS BETWEEN CORPORATION AND DIRECTORS OR OFFICERS

Section 10.01 Transactions with Directors and Officers

(a) Interested Party Transactions

Except as described in Section 10.01(b), the Corporation shall not be a party to any transaction:

- (i) in which one or more of its Directors or Officers has a material financial interest; or
- (ii) with any corporation, firm, association, or other entity in which one or more Directors or Officers has a material financial interest.

(b) Requirements to Authorize Interested Party Transactions

The Corporation shall not be a party to any transaction described in 10.01(a) unless:

- (i) the Corporation enters into the transaction for its own benefit;

- (ii) the transaction is fair and reasonable to the Corporation at the time the transaction is entered into;
 - (iii) prior to consummating the transaction or any part thereof, the Board authorizes or approves the transaction in good faith, by a vote of a majority of Directors then in office (without counting the vote of the interested Directors), and with knowledge of the material facts concerning the transaction and the interested Director's or Officer's financial interest in the transaction;
 - (iv) prior to authorizing or approving the transaction, the Board considers and in good faith determines after reasonable investigation that the Corporation could not obtain a more advantageous arrangement with reasonable effort under the circumstances; and
 - (v) the minutes of the Board meeting at which such action was taken reflect that the Board considered and made the findings described in paragraphs (i) through (iv) of this Section 10.01(b).
- (c) Material Financial Interest
 A Director or Officer shall not be deemed to have a "material financial interest" in a transaction:
- (i) that fixes the compensation of a Director as a Director or Officer;
 - (ii) if the contract or transaction is part of a public or charitable program of the Corporation and it (1) is approved or authorized by the Corporation in good faith and without unjustified favoritism, and (2) results in a benefit to one or more Directors or their families only because they are in the class of persons intended to be benefited by the program; or
 - (iii) where the interested Director has no actual knowledge of the transaction and it does not exceed the lesser of one percent of the gross receipts of the corporation for the preceding year or $100,000.

Section 10.02 Loans to Directors and Officers

The Corporation shall not make any loan of money or property to or guarantee the obligation of any Director or Officer, unless approved by the Attorney General; except that, however, the Corporation may advance money to a Director or Officer for expenses reasonably anticipated to be incurred in the performance of duties of such Director or Officer, if in the absence of such advance, such Director or Officer would be entitled to be reimbursed for such expenses by the Corporation.

The limitation above does not apply if (i) the loan is necessary, in the judgment of the Board, to provide financing for the purchase of the principal residence of an Officer in order to secure the services of (or continued services of) the Officer and the loan is secured by real property located in California; or (ii) the loan is for the payment of premiums on a life insurance policy on the life of a Director or Officer and repayment to the Corporation of the amount paid by it is secured by the proceeds of the policy and its cash surrender value.

Section 10.03 Interlocking Directorates

No contract or other transaction between the Corporation and any corporation, firm or association of which one or more Directors are directors is either void or voidable because such Director(s) are present at the Board or Committee meeting that authorizes, approves or ratifies the contract or transaction, if (i) the material facts as to the transaction and as to such Director's other directorship are fully disclosed or known to the Board or Committee, and the Board or Committee authorizes, approves or ratifies the contract or transaction in good faith by a vote sufficient without counting the vote of the common Director(s) (subject to the quorum provisions of Article 7); or if (ii) the contract or transaction is just and reasonable as to the Corporation at the time it is authorized, approved or ratified.

Section 10.04 Duty of loyalty; Construction with Article 11

Nothing in this Article 10 shall be construed to derogate in any way from the absolute duty of loyalty that every Director and Officer owes to the Corporation. Furthermore, nothing in this Article 10 shall be construed to override or amend the provisions of Article 11. All conflicts between the two articles shall be resolved in favor of Article 11.

ARTICLE 11 INDEMNIFICATION OF DIRECTORS, OFFICERS, EMPLOYEES AND AGENTS

Section 11.01 Definitions

For purpose of this Article 11,

- ⓪ "Agent"
means any person who is or was a Director, Officer, employee, or other agent of the Corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a Director, Officer, employee, or agent of another foreign or domestic corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, or other enterprise, or was a Director, Officer, employee, or agent of a foreign or domestic corporation that was a predecessor corporation of the Corporation or of another enterprise at the request of the predecessor corporation;
- ⓪ "Proceeding"
means any threatened, pending, or completed action or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative, or investigative; and
- ⓪ "Expenses"
includes, without limitation, all attorneys' fees, costs, and any other expenses reasonably incurred in the defense of any claims or proceedings against an Agent by reason of his or her position or relationship as Agent and all attorneys' fees, costs, and other expenses reasonably incurred in establishing a right to indemnification under this Article 11.

Section 11.02 Applicability of Indemnification Provisions

(a) Successful Defense by Agent

To the extent that an Agent has been successful on the merits in the defense of any proceeding referred to in this Article 11, or in the defense of any claim, issue, or matter therein, the Agent shall be indemnified against expenses actually and reasonably incurred by the Agent in connection with the claim.

(b) Settlement or Unsuccessful Defense by Agent

If an Agent either settles any proceeding referred to in this Article 11, or any claim, issue, or matter therein, or sustains a judgment rendered against him, then the provisions of Section 11.03 through Section 11.06 shall determine whether the Agent is entitled to indemnification.

Section 11.03 Actions Brought by Persons Other than the Corporation

This Section 11.03 applies to any proceeding other than an action “by or on behalf of the corporation” as defined in Section 11.04. Such proceedings that are not brought by or on behalf of the Corporation are referred to in this Section 11.03 as “Third Party proceedings.”

(a) Scope of Indemnification in Third Party Proceedings

Subject to the required findings to be made pursuant to Section 11.03(b), the Corporation shall indemnify, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any person who was or is a party, or is threatened to be made a party, to any Third Party proceeding, by reason of the fact that such person is or was an Agent, for all expenses, judgments, fines, settlements, and other amounts actually and reasonably incurred in connection with the proceeding.

(b) Required Standard of Conduct For Indemnification in Third Party Proceedings

Any indemnification granted to an Agent in Section 11.03(a) above is conditioned on the following. The Board must determine, in the manner provided in Section 11.05, that the Agent seeking reimbursement acted in good faith, in a manner he or she reasonably believed to be in the best interest of the Corporation, and, in the case of a criminal proceeding, he or she must have had no reasonable cause to believe that his or her conduct was unlawful. The termination of any proceeding by judgment, order, settlement, conviction, or on a plea of nolo contendere or its equivalent shall not, of itself, create a presumption that the person did not act in good faith or in a manner he or she reasonably believed to be in the best interest of the Corporation or that he or she had reasonable cause to believe that his or her conduct was unlawful.

Section 11.04 Action Brought By or On Behalf Of the Corporation

This Section 11.04 applies to any proceeding brought (i) by or in the right of the Corporation, or (ii) by an Officer, Director or person granted relator status by the Attorney General, or by the Attorney General, on the ground that the defendant Director was or is engaging in self-dealing within the meaning of section 5233 of the California Nonprofit Corporation Law, or (iii) by the Attorney General or person granted relator status by the Attorney General for any breach of duty relating to assets held in charitable trust (any such proceeding is referred to in these Bylaws as a proceeding “by or on behalf of the Corporation”).

(a) Scope of Indemnification in Proceeding By or On Behalf Of the Corporation

Subject to the required findings to be made pursuant to Section 11.04(b), and except as provided in Sections 11.04(c) and 11.04(d), the Corporation shall indemnify, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any person who was or is a party, or is threatened to be made a party, to any proceeding by or on behalf of the Corporation, by reason of the fact that such person is or was an Agent, for all expenses actually and reasonably incurred in connection with the defense or settlement of such action.

(b) Required Standard of Conduct for Indemnification in Proceeding By or On Behalf Of the Corporation

Any indemnification granted to an Agent in Section 11.04(a) is conditioned on the following. The Board must determine, in the manner provided in Section 11.05, that the Agent seeking reimbursement acted in good faith, in a manner he or she believed to be in the best interest of the Corporation and with such care, including reasonable inquiry, as an ordinarily prudent person in a like position would use under similar circumstances.

(c) Claims Settled Out of Court

If any Agent settles or otherwise disposes of a threatened or pending action brought by or on behalf of the Corporation, with or without court approval, the Agent shall receive no indemnification for amounts paid pursuant to the terms of the settlement or other disposition. Also, in cases settled or otherwise disposed of without court approval, the Agent shall receive no indemnification for expenses reasonably incurred in defending against the proceeding, unless the proceeding is settled with the approval of the Attorney General.

(d) Claims and Suits Awarded Against Agent

If any Agent is adjudged to be liable to the Corporation in the performance of the Agent’s duty to the Corporation, the Agent shall receive no indemnification for amounts paid pursuant to the judgment, and any indemnification of such Agent under Section 11.04(a) for expenses actually and reasonably incurred in connection with the defense of that action shall be made only if both of the following conditions are met:

- (i) The determination of good faith conduct required by Section 11.04(b) must be made in the manner provided for in Section 11.05; and
- (ii) Upon application, the court in which the action was brought must determine that, in view of all of the circumstances of the case, the Agent is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity for the expenses incurred. If the Agent is found to be so entitled, the court shall determine the appropriate amount of expenses to be reimbursed.

Section 11.05 Determination of Agent's Good Faith Conduct

The indemnification granted to an Agent in Section 11.03 and Section 11.04 is conditioned on the findings required by those Sections being made by:

- (a) the Board by a majority vote of a quorum consisting of Directors who are not parties to the proceeding; or
- (b) the court in which the proceeding is or was pending. Such determination may be made on application brought by the Corporation or the Agent or the attorney or other person rendering a defense to the Agent, whether or not the application by the Agent, attorney, or other person is opposed by the Corporation.

Section 11.06 Limitations

No indemnification or advance shall be made under this Article 11, except as provided in Section 11.02(a) or Section 11.05(b), in any circumstances when it appears:

- (a) that the indemnification or advance would be inconsistent with a provision of the Articles of Incorporation, as amended, or an agreement in effect at the time of the accrual of the alleged cause of action asserted in the proceeding in which the expenses were incurred or other amounts were paid, which prohibits or otherwise limits indemnification; or
- (b) that the indemnification would be inconsistent with any condition expressly imposed by a court in approving a settlement.

Section 11.07 Advance of Expenses

Expenses incurred in defending any proceeding may be advanced by the Corporation before the final disposition of the proceeding on receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of the Agent to repay the amount of the advance unless it is determined ultimately that the Agent is entitled to be indemnified as authorized in this Article 11.

Section 11.08 Contractual Rights of Non-Directors and Non-Officers

Nothing contained in this Article 11 shall affect any right to indemnification to which persons other than Directors and Officers of the Corporation, or any of its subsidiaries, may be entitled by contract or otherwise.

Section 11.09 Insurance

The Board may adopt a resolution authorizing the purchase and maintenance of insurance on behalf of any Agent, as defined in this Article 11, against any liability asserted against or incurred by any Agent in such capacity or arising out of the Agent's status as such, whether or not the Corporation would have the power to indemnify the Agent against the liability under the provisions of this Article 11.

ARTICLE 12 CORPORATION RECORDS, REPORTS AND SEAL

Section 12.01 Minute Book

The Corporation shall keep a minute book in written form which shall contain a record of all actions by the Board or any committee including (i) the time, date and place of each meeting; (ii) whether a meeting is regular or special and, if special, how called; (iii) the manner of giving notice of each meeting and a copy thereof; (iv) the names of those present at each meeting of the Board or any Committee thereof; (v) the minutes of all meetings; (vi) any written waivers of notice, consents to the holding of a meeting or approvals of the minutes thereof; (vii) all written consents for action without a meeting; (viii) all protests concerning lack of notice; and (ix) formal dissents from Board actions.

Section 12.02 Books and Records of Account

The Corporation shall keep adequate and correct books and records of account. "Correct books and records" includes, but is not necessarily limited to: accounts of properties and transactions, its assets, liabilities, receipts, disbursements, gains, and losses.

Section 12.03 Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws

The Corporation shall keep at its principal office, the original or a copy of the Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws as amended to date.

Section 12.04 Maintenance and Inspection of Federal Tax Exemption Application and Annual Information Returns

The Corporation shall at all times keep at its principal office a copy of its federal tax exemption application and, for three years from their date of filing, its annual information returns. These documents shall be open to public inspection and copying to the extent required by the Code.

Section 12.05 Annual Report; Statement of Certain Transactions

The Board shall cause an annual report to be sent to each Director within 120 days after the close of the Corporation's fiscal year containing the following information:

- (a) The assets and liabilities of the Corporation as of the end of the fiscal year;
- (b) The principal changes in assets and liabilities, including trust funds, during the fiscal year;
- (c) The revenue or receipts of the Corporation, both unrestricted and restricted to particular purposes, for this fiscal year;
- (d) The expenses or disbursements of the Corporation for both general and restricted purposes during the fiscal year;
- (e) A statement of any transaction (i) to which the Corporation was a party, (ii) which involved more than $25,000, or which was one of a number of such transactions with the same person involving, in the aggregate, more than $25,000, and (iii) in which either of the following interested persons had a direct or indirect material financial interest (a mere common directorship is not a financial interest):

- (1) Any Director or Officer of the Corporation; or
- (2) Any holder of more than 10% of the voting power of the Corporation.

The statement shall include: (i) a brief description of the transaction; (ii) the names of interested persons involved; (iii) their relationship to the Corporation; (iv) the nature of their interest in the transaction, and; (v) when practicable, the amount of that interest, provided that, in the case of a partnership in which such person is a partner, only the interest of the partnership need be stated.

- (f) A brief description of the amounts and circumstances of any loans, guaranties, indemnifications, or advances aggregating more than $10,000 paid during the fiscal year to any Officer or Director under Article 10 or Article 11.

Section 12.06 Directors' Rights of Inspection

Every Director shall have the absolute right at any reasonable time to inspect the books, records, documents of every kind, and physical properties of the Corporation and each of its subsidiaries. The inspection may be made in person or by the Director's agent or attorney. The right of inspection includes the right to copy and make extracts of documents.

Section 12.07 Corporate Seal

The corporate seal, if any, shall be in such form as may be approved from time to time by the Board. Failure to affix the seal to corporate instruments, however, shall not affect the validity of any such instrument.

ARTICLE 13 EXECUTION OF INSTRUMENTS, DEPOSITS AND FUNDS

Section 13.01 Execution of Instruments

The Board, except as otherwise provided in these Bylaws, may by resolution authorize any Officer or agent of the Corporation to enter into any contract or execute and deliver any instrument in the name of and on behalf of the Corporation, and such authority may be general or confined to specific instances. Unless so authorized, no Officer, agent, or employee shall have any power or authority to bind the Corporation by any contract or engagement or to pledge its credit or to render it liable monetarily for any purpose or in any amount.

Section 13.02 Checks and Notes

Except as otherwise specifically determined by resolution of the Board, or as otherwise required by law, checks, drafts, promissory notes, orders for the payment of money, and other evidence of indebtedness of the Corporation shall be signed by both the President and either the Treasurer or the Assistant Treasurer.

Section 13.03 Deposits

All funds of the Corporation shall be deposited from time to time to the credit of the Corporation in such banks, trust companies, or other depositories as the Board may select.

Section 13.04 Gifts

The Board may accept on behalf of the Corporation any contribution, gift, bequest, or devise for the charitable or public purposes of the Corporation.

ARTICLE 14 CONSTRUCTION AND DEFINITIONS

Unless the context requires otherwise, the general provisions, rules of construction, and definitions of California Nonprofit Corporation Law shall govern the construction of these Bylaws. Without limiting the generality of the above, the masculine gender includes the feminine and neuter, the singular number includes the plural, the plural number includes the singular, and the term "person" includes both the Corporation and a natural person. All references to statutes, regulations and laws shall include any future statutes, regulations and laws that replace those referenced.

ARTICLE 15 AMENDMENTS

Section 15.01 Amendment by Directors

The Board may adopt, amend or repeal bylaws. Such power is subject to the following limitations:

- (a) Where any provision of these Bylaws requires the vote of a larger proportion of the Directors than otherwise is required by law, such provision may not be altered, amended or repealed except by the vote of such greater number.
- (b) No amendment may extend the term of a Director beyond that for which such Director was elected.
- (c) If bylaws are adopted, amended or repealed at a meeting of the Board, such action is authorized only at a duly called and held meeting for which written notice of such meeting, setting forth the proposed bylaw revisions with explanations therefor, is given in accordance with these Bylaws, unless such notice is waived in accordance with these Bylaws.

Report on the Consolidated Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated financial statements of American Jewish University (a nonprofit educational institution) (the University), which comprise the consolidated statements of financial position as of June 30, 2018 and 2017, and the related consolidated statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the consolidated financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the University as of June 30, 2018 and 2017, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

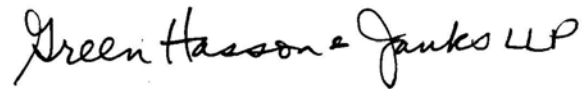

To the Board of Directors
American Jewish University

Other Matters - Supplementary Schedule

Our audits were conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the consolidated financial statements as a whole. The accompanying Schedule of Expenditures of Federal and Nonfederal Awards is presented for purposes of additional analysis as required by the audit requirements of Title 2 U.S. Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) Part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards (Uniform Guidance), and is not a required part of the consolidated financial statements. Such information is the responsibility of management and was derived from and relates directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the consolidated financial statements. The information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the consolidated financial statements and certain additional procedures, including comparing and reconciling such information directly to the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the consolidated financial statements or to the consolidated financial statements themselves, and other additional procedures in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. In our opinion, the Schedule of Expenditures of Federal and Nonfederal Awards is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the consolidated financial statements as a whole.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated February 13, 2019 on our consideration of the University's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the University's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.

AMERICAN JEWISH UNIVERSITY

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2018 and 2017

NOTE 1 - NATURE OF ORGANIZATION

The American Jewish University (the University) is a nonprofit educational institution built upon the mission of Jewish Learning, Culture, Ethics, Leadership and Peoplehood. The University is accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC).

The University is the sole member of AJU BBI Holdings LLC and AJU Peppertree Holdings LLC. AJU BBI Holdings LLC, in turn, has a 100% ownership interest in a separate corporation, the Brandeis Mutual Water Company, which was established to protect the water rights for one of the University's campuses, the Brandeis-Bardin campus. There was no activity in these companies for the years ended June 30, 2018 and 2017.

The University also has a 100% equity interest in ZSRS Fund, LLC (ZSRS). ZSRS holds notes receivable and a number of minority interests in partnerships that own property in California and Arizona. The University accounts for this investment using the equity method of accounting for investments (See Note 4).

The University is a designated beneficiary of the University of Judaism Foundation (the "Foundation"). The Foundation was established in 1980 by officers of the University to support the University and other public charities, as defined by the Internal Revenue Code. Under the terms of the Foundation's incorporating documents, the University receives a minimum of approximately 35% of the Foundation's annual income. Additional income amounts, as well as the principal of the Foundation, may be received by the University based upon annual designations of the Foundation's members. The University has the ability to control the majority of the board of directors of the Foundation.

NOTE 2 - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

(a) PRINCIPLES OF CONSOLIDATION

The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the American Jewish University, AJU BBI Holdings LLC, Brandeis Mutual Water Company, AJU Peppertree Holdings LLC and the Jewish Television Network (collectively, the University). All intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated upon consolidation.

The University has not consolidated the Foundation's financial position and activities into these consolidated financial statements as it considers the impact to be immaterial.

(b) BASIS OF PRESENTATION

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting.

(c) ACCOUNTING

To ensure observance of certain constraints and restrictions placed on the use of resources, the accounts of the University are maintained in accordance with the principles of net assets accounting. This is the procedure by which resources for various purposes are classified for accounting and reporting purposes into net asset classes that are in accordance with specified activities or objectives. Accordingly, all financial transactions have been recorded and reported by net asset class as follows:

- Unrestricted. These generally result from revenues generated by receiving unrestricted contributions, providing services, and receiving income from investments less expenses incurred in providing program related services, raising contributions, and performing administrative functions.
- Temporarily Restricted. The University reports gifts of cash and other assets as temporarily restricted support if they are received with donor stipulations that limit the use of the donated assets. When a donor restriction expires, that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or the purpose of the restriction is accomplished, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the consolidated statement of activities as net assets released from purpose or time restrictions.
- Permanently Restricted. These net assets are received from donors who stipulate that resources are to be maintained permanently, but permit the University to expend all of the income (or other economic benefits) derived from the donated assets.

(d) CASH AND CASH EQUIVALENTS

Cash and cash equivalents are short-term, highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less at the time of purchase. The carrying value of cash and cash equivalents at June 30, 2018 and 2017 approximates its fair value.

The University maintains its temporary cash investments in bank deposit accounts and other investment accounts which, at times, may exceed federally insured limits. The University has not experienced any losses in such accounts and believes it is not exposed to any significant credit risk on cash and cash equivalents.

AMERICAN JEWISH UNIVERSITY

Investments in marketable securities with readily determinable fair values and all investments in debt securities are reported at fair value. Investments in alternative strategies, for which there is no readily available market, are valued by the University using methods that management believes provide a reasonable estimate of fair value. These methods include initial due diligence and ongoing monitoring by management of investment funds.

Investment purchases and sales are accounted for on a trade-date basis, which resulted in receivables and payables on trades that had not yet settled at the financial statement date. Realized gains and losses are calculated based upon the underlying cost of the securities traded. Interest and dividend income is recorded when earned. Gains or losses (including investments bought, sold, and held during the year), and interest and dividend income net of investment fees are reflected in the consolidated statement of activities as increases or decreases in unrestricted net assets unless their use is temporarily restricted by donor stipulations or by law.

Investment securities, in general, are exposed to various risks, such as interest rate, credit, and overall market volatility. Because of the level of risk associated with certain long-term investments, it is reasonably possible that changes in the values of these investments will occur in the near term and that such changes could be material.

The University's investment in the Brandeis Mutual Water Company represents a wholly-owned investment in a separate corporation formed to protect the University's interest in the natural water source attached to a local water district serving the Brandeis-Bardin campus. The investment allows the University to buy its water from the local water district at cost. Brandeis Mutual Water Company has $75,000 in assets, included in other assets in the consolidated statement of financial position. There was no activity in the company for the years ended June 30, 2018 and 2017.

Investments are made according to the investment policies, guidelines, and objectives adopted by the University's Board of Directors. Market values of such investments are routinely reviewed by the Investment Committee of the Board of Directors.

(f) ACCOUNTS AND OTHER RECEIVABLES

Receivables are recorded when billed or accrued and represent claims against third parties that will be settled in cash. The carrying value of receivables, net of the allowance for doubtful accounts, represents their estimated fair value. The allowance for doubtful accounts is estimated based on historical collection trends, type of customer, the age of outstanding receivables and existing economic conditions. If events or changes in circumstances indicate that specific receivable balances may be impaired, further consideration is given to the collectability of those balances and the allowance is adjusted accordingly. Past due receivable balances are written-off when internal collection efforts have been unsuccessful in collecting the amount due. At June 30, 2018 and 2017, management evaluated the collectability of its receivables and determined that an allowance of $54,193 for uncollectible receivables was necessary.

AMERICAN JEWISH UNIVERSITY

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(g) CONTRIBUTIONS RECEIVABLE

Unconditional contributions, including pledges and bequests are recorded at estimated fair value, and recognized as revenues in the period received. The University reports unconditional contributions as restricted support if they are received with donor stipulations that limit the use of the donated assets. Conditional promises to give are not included as support until such time as the conditions are substantially met. At June 30, 2018 and 2017, the University had conditional grants totaling approximately $169,418 and $182,588, respectively, restricted for the Master of Arts in Teaching program.

In addition, the University had other conditional contributions totaling approximately $780,000 at June 30, 2018. During October 2018, the University recorded revenue totaling approximately $780,000 when the related conditions were satisfied.

(h) INVENTORIES

Inventories consist mainly of items held for sale in the University's food service, and are stated at the lower-of-cost or market and accounted for using the first-in, first-out (FIFO) method.

(i) PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT

Property and equipment are recorded at cost if purchased or at fair value at the date of donation, if donated. Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the related assets as follows:

Buildings	40 Years
Building Improvements	10 Years
Furniture and Equipment	5 Years
Automotive Equipment	5 Years

Expenditures for repairs and maintenance are charged to operations when incurred while renewals and betterments are capitalized.

(j) DEBT ISSUANCE COSTS

Debt issuance costs are amortized by use of the straight-line method over the anticipated life of the related debt. Debt issuance costs, other than those costs related to line of credit arrangements, are netted against the long-term portion of the corresponding liability as shown in Note 7. The amortization of these costs is included in interest expense.

(k) LONG-LIVED ASSETS

The University reviews long-lived assets for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the book value of the assets may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recognized when the sum of the undiscounted future cash flows is less than the carrying amount of the asset, in which case a write-down is recorded to reduce the related asset to its estimated fair value. No impairment losses were recognized on long-lived assets during the years ended June 30, 2018 and 2017.

AMERICAN JEWISH UNIVERSITY

(l) COLLECTIONS OF ART AND LITERATURE

The University's library collection, fine art works and sculpture collection, which were acquired through contributions and purchases, are not recognized as assets on the consolidated statement of financial position. Purchases of collection items are recorded as decreases in unrestricted net assets in the year in which the items are acquired or as temporarily or permanently restricted net assets if the assets used to purchase the items are restricted by donors. Contributed collection items are not reflected on the consolidated financial statements. Proceeds from deaccessions or insurance recoveries are reflected as increases in the appropriate net asset classes. Each of the items is cataloged, preserved, and cared for, and activities verifying their existence and assessing their condition are performed continuously. The collections are subject to a policy that requires deaccessioning proceeds to be used to acquire other items for collections.

(m) GIFT ANNUITIES

The University has received donations of assets in exchange for distributions of a fixed amount for a specific period of time to the donor or other beneficiaries. Assets contributed by donors under gift annuity agreements and controlled by the University are recognized at fair value with a corresponding liability to beneficiaries of the annuity agreements. The excess of the cash received over the present value of the annuity obligation is recorded as contribution revenue on the date the annuity gift is received and the liability is determined. Such liability is calculated as the present value of the estimated future cash flows to be distributed to the income beneficiaries over their expected lives. To the extent the University is entitled, annuity funds are transferred to operations upon the death of the annuitant. The University monitors reserve funds and is in compliance with guidelines specified by the State of California Department of Insurance. The present value of these liabilities amounted to $33,723 and $35,066, at June 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. Amortization of the discount and changes in actuarial assumptions are included in the change in value of the liability under gift annuity agreements in the consolidated statement of activities.

(n) REVENUE RECOGNITION AND DEFERRED REVENUE

Tuition and Fees. Tuition income is recognized as the educational services are provided. Tuition and fees received by the University for semesters or sessions occurring subsequent to June 30, 2018 and 2017 are recorded as deferred revenue. Certain federal grants which the University administers and for which it receives reimbursements are subject to inspection and audit by federal granting agencies. The purpose is to determine whether such funds were used in accordance with their respective guidelines and regulations. The amount of expenditures that may be disallowed by the grantor, if any, cannot be determined at this time. The University expects that such amounts, if any, would not have a significant impact on the consolidated financial position of the University.

Gifts and Grants. Unconditional contributions, including pledges recorded at fair value, are recognized as revenues in the period received. The University reports unconditional contributions as restricted support if they are received with donor stipulations that limit the use of the donated assets. Conditional promises to give are not included as revenue until such time as the conditions are substantially met.

Bequests. Bequests are not recognized as support until all of the following conditions are met: the demise of testator, the amount of the bequest is known, the University is certain that, based on the estate's net assets, the amount bequeathed is realizable and the probate court has declared the will valid.

Auxiliary Enterprises. Fees received in advance for conferences and camps are deferred and recognized as income in the period in which the related conferences and camps are held. Program and service revenues are recognized when the related services have been performed.

(o) INCOME TAXES

The University is exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and the corresponding California provisions.

(p) FUNCTIONAL ALLOCATION OF EXPENSES

The direct costs of providing the University's programs and other activities which are identifiable have been allocated to the related programs or supporting services. Indirect or shared costs are allocated among program and supporting services by the method that best measures the relative degree of benefit.

(q) USE OF ESTIMATES

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses as of the date and for the period presented. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

(r) NEW ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS

In May 2014, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, which establishes a comprehensive revenue recognition standard for virtually all industries following U.S. GAAP, including those that previously followed industry-specific guidance. For non-public entities, the new standard was originally effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2017. In August 2015, the FASB issued ASU 2015-14, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606) - Deferral of Effective Date, which deferred the effective date for one year. Accordingly, this ASU will be effective for the University for the year ending June 30, 2020. The University is currently evaluating the effect the provisions of ASU 2014-09 will have on its consolidated financial statements.

AMERICAN JEWISH UNIVERSITY

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2018 and 2017

In August 2016, FASB issued ASU No. 2016-14, Presentation of Financial Statements of Not-for-Profit Entities (Topic 958), which is intended to reduce complexity in financial reporting. The ASU focuses on improving the current net asset classification requirements and information presented in consolidated financial statements that is useful in assessing a nonprofit's liquidity, financial performance, and cash flows. For the University, the ASU will be effective for the year ending June 30, 2019.

In June 2018, FASB issued ASU No. 2018-08, Clarifying the Scope and the Accounting Guidance for Contributions Received and Contributions Made, which is intended to clarify the accounting guidance for contributions received and contributions made. The amendments in this ASU should assist entities in evaluating whether transactions should be accounted for as contributions (nonreciprocal transactions) within the scope of Topic 958, Not-for-Profit Entities, or as exchange (reciprocal) transactions subject to other guidance. For the University, the ASU will be effective for the year ending June 30, 2020.

In February 2016, FASB issued ASU No. 2016-02, Leases, which is intended to improve financial reporting about leasing transactions. The new standard will require organizations that lease assets with terms of more than 12 months to recognize on the consolidated statement of financial position the assets and liabilities for the rights and obligations created by those leases. The ASU also will require disclosures to help financial statement users better understand the amount, timing, and uncertainty of cash flows arising from leases. These disclosures include qualitative and quantitative requirements and provide additional information about the amounts recorded in the consolidated financial statements. For the University, the ASU will be effective for the year ending June 30, 2021.

(s) RECLASSIFICATION

For comparability, certain June 30, 2017 amounts have been reclassified, where appropriate, to conform with the consolidated financial statement presentation used at June 30, 2018.

(t) SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

The University has evaluated events and transactions occurring subsequent to the consolidated statement of financial position date of June 30, 2018 for items that should potentially be recognized or disclosed in these consolidated financial statements. The evaluation was conducted through February 13, 2019, the date these consolidated financial statements were available to be issued. No such material events or transactions were noted to have occurred, except as otherwise noted in these consolidated financial statements.

NOTE 8 - FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

The University has implemented an accounting standard for those assets (and liabilities) that are re-measured and reported at fair value at each reporting period. This standard establishes a single authoritative definition of fair value, sets out a framework for measuring fair value based on inputs used, and requires additional disclosures about fair value measurements. This standard applies to fair value measurements already required or permitted by existing standards.

In general, fair values determined by Level 1 inputs utilize quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets (or liabilities). Fair values determined by Level 2 inputs utilize data points that are observable such as quoted prices, interest rates and yield curves. Fair values determined by Level 3 inputs are unobservable data points for the asset (or liability) and include situations where there is little, if any, market activity for the asset (or liability).

The fair values of marketable securities within Level 1 were obtained based on quoted market prices at the closing of the last business day of the fiscal year.

The bonds within Level 2 were valued at fair value by discounting the related cash flows based on current yields of similar instruments with comparable durations considering the credit-worthiness of the issuer.

Investments valued at NAV are invested in a number of strategies including, but not limited to, emerging market, publicly traded equities, fixed income, commodity and currency trading. Investments are valued using the NAV provided by the fund managers, which is based on the value of underlying investments within the funds. All lock-up periods on the funds have expired and redemptions can be made monthly, daily, or quarterly. Unfunded commitments at June 30, 2018 and 2017 were $1,849,149 and $1,030,391, respectively.

The fair value of the liability under gift annuities within Level 3 was determined as described in Note 2(m).

The University recognizes transfers at the beginning of each reporting period. Transfers between Level 1 and 2 investments generally relate to whether a market becomes active or inactive. There were no transfers between Level 1 and 2 investments for the years ended June 30, 2018 and 2017. Transfers between Level 2 and 3 investments relate to whether significant relevant observable inputs are available for the fair value measurement in their entirety and when redemption rules become more or less restrictive. There were no transfers between Level 2 and 3 investments for the years ended June 30, 2018 and 2017.

Changes in Level 3 measurements for the years ended June 30 are as follows:

	Fair Value Measurements Using Significant Unobservable Inputs (Level 3) - Liability Under Gift Annuities

NOTE 9 - COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

In the ordinary course of conducting its business, the University may become involved in various lawsuits. Some of these proceedings may result in judgments being assessed against the University which, from time to time, may have an impact on its change in net assets. The University does not believe that these proceedings, individually or in the aggregate, are material to the accompanying consolidated financial statements.

NOTE 11 - ENDOWMENTS

Endowment funds are established by donor-restricted gifts and bequests to either provide a permanent endowment, which is to provide a permanent source of income to the University, or a term endowment, which is to provide income for a specified period to the University.

The University's management understands California State law as (1) requiring the preservation of the fair value of the original gifts as of the gift date of the donor restricted endowment funds, absent donor stipulations to the contrary and (2) allowing the spending of income and gains on permanently restricted endowments, absent explicit donor stipulations that all or a portion of such gains be maintained in perpetuity. The University therefore appropriates for expenditure or accumulates so much of an endowment fund as the Board determines is prudent for the uses, benefits, purposes and duration for which the endowment fund is established. In making a determination to appropriate or accumulate, the Board of Directors acts in good faith and with care that an ordinary prudent person in a like position would exercise under similar circumstances, keeping in mind the continued existence of the program the gift was intended to support.

The University's investment objectives are to provide the University with a rate of growth equal to or exceeding the University's annual draw rate or the rate of inflation, whichever is higher. The endowment assets are to be invested as a balanced portfolio consisting of equity, fixed income, cash equivalent securities and other assets with due regard to preservation and growth of principal.

The University's spending policy is designed to provide for positive growth in the market value of its endowment, net of distributions, over an extended period of time. In establishing this policy, the Board of Directors considered the long-term expected return of the endowment investment pool and the goal of maintaining the purchasing power of the endowment assets. Over the long term, the current spending policy is designed to return a net positive gain in market value (growth) after spendable transfers. The annual rate for spendable transfers, distributed quarterly, is decided on by the Board of Directors. For the years ended June 30, 2018 and 2017, this rate was on average 4.8% to 6.4%, and 4.5% to 6.3%, respectively, of each endowment's spending base. The spending base is calculated by using a 3-year average market value of each endowment's investments.

From time to time, the fair value of assets associated with individual donor-restricted endowment funds may fall below the level that the donor requires the University to retain as a fund of perpetual duration. There were no deficiencies of this nature reported in unrestricted net assets at June 30, 2018 and 2017.
